Volume 36
Euclid High students are going for the gold in the 1984-1985 school year. Academic, social, and personal goals are higher than ever, and a glimpse at the future shows a shining tomorrow.

As each Euclid student strives for his personal best, together, the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes have joined to make this year at Euclid their pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Hard work and plenty of play make the Euclid Panther's day. Students at Euclid are shining bright in their involvement in activities.

The students are going for the gold, as panther pride soars high. The golden memories of special friendships, sports, dances, clubs and activities in the school and community have been captured forever in the "student's life."

Fact: There are more lockers in this school than students. One may ask, "Why?" The answer is simple: The lockers are taking over the school. Seriously, the lockers just love to terrorize the students. For instance, they let their handles fall off their doors, they jam, and they refuse to close—all for one reason: to ANNOY the students. Nevertheless, we are strong enough not to be affected by these idle pranks. Of course, by now, we expect that this is something the lockers already know, so they have decided to switch to Plan B. (Yes, Plan B. My locker told me so. It wrote nasty letters on my folder.) Of course, students reading this article will ask, "What is Plan B?" Brace yourselves; this may get ugly! Plan B is TO BE UGLY! Horrors! What will we do now? Wait! The perfect plan: decorate your locker! Yes, this tried and true method is useful in combating all forms of ugliness: scrapes, scratches, imperfections, and even dents. Why, all one needs is tape, a magazine, scissors, photographs, and maybe even a mirror.

Very good, students, we have conquered the problem! You may stop singing "We Shall Overcome." (And to think that we were horrified by idiotic pieces of scrap metal!) Of course, underclassmen, what will happen next year?

Inspired by pep rallies and a bonfire, the varsity football team scored a record-breaking 62 points in defeating Maple Heights. The assembly on Thursday, October 11, set off the Homecoming festivities. Banner contest candidates presented their spirit banners, and Varsity Chorale sang "Truly." Finally, the 1984 Homecoming candidates were announced.

At the bonfire that night, announcer Bill DeMora, cheerleaders, pep band members, and coaches helped fire up the football team for its game Friday night. Following the rally, the "Last Chance to Get a Date Dance" was held, breaking an attendance record for all school dances.

-L. Bado, M. Malone
Homecoming 1984 continued after the football team's victory when the banner contest winners were announced. The sophomore class won first place, the varsity cheerleaders took second place, and the Key Club followed in third place. Marilyn Zupan, treasurer, and Lisa Selik, secretary, of the Student Council, announced to the anxious crowd the 1984 Homecoming Queen and her court. Kim Brown was named Freshman Attendant; Virginia Wagner, Sophomore Attendant; and Gretchen Van de Motter, Junior Attendant. The Senior Attendants were Cindy Hoepert and Joan Mast. Faith Kardos, the 1983 Homecoming Queen, relinquished her crown to Missy Malone. The winners took their victory rides around the field in decorated golf carts and then paraded down the fifty-yard line. Each of the attendants received a presenter's bouquet of roses, and Missy Malone received a dozen roses. Members of the Student Council sent up 1000 blue and gold balloons. A ten minute extravaganza of fireworks followed, the finale to a most memorable evening.

The 1984 Homecoming Dance was a great success, with over 500 students attending. The theme, Hollywood Nights, was highlighted by the Marquis, the canopy, and the Oscars printed with the names of each couple. The dance featured a spotlight dance by the Queen and her court and refreshments provided by the PTSA and Student Council. All in all, Homecoming 1984 was one of the best Euclid has ever experienced.

Panther power and pride, blue and gold, and a cheerful smile are what makes Euclid so special. Spirit at Euclid has risen to an all time high in 1984-1985, as new spirit paraphernalia is introduced to the student body. Buttons, t-shirts, and pennants sport the school colors and symbols in some way on every student.

Students are attending dances, sport events, and similar school activities more than ever before. Spirit signs painted by an after school club brighten the halls with the lively spirit of its students. Who knows, maybe it was a bit o' the ol' blue and gold magic that won the St. Joe's game!

-C. Bednarik
The 1984-1985 school year opened with many changes. The biggest change came in the form of a new administrative staff. Mr. Robert Lombardo replaced Dr. Jerry Bergem as principal, and Mr. William McGuinness became associate principal. Mr. Stan Bender became the tenth grade principal, and Mr. Paul Kapostasy became the ninth grade principal. Mr. Jim Rattay is the new ninth grade counselor as well as the new head football coach.

Mr. Lombardo introduced many changes this school year. There was a crackdown on bringing coats or duffel bags to class, Saturday school was introduced, sophomores were permitted into the cafeteria at the same time as juniors and seniors, Christmas vacation was extended, and two new formats of parent-teacher conferences were tried.

Dr. Husarik said that he and Mr. Lombardo were striving for both promote school spirit and more teacher involvement in extracurricular activities. He feels that they have reached their goals successfully. With an added variety of school spirit wear, more students are getting involved.

Because of numerous retirements last year, several new teachers joined the faculty. Miss Katie Black and Miss Christine DiMatteo teach science. Mrs. Pla teaches French and German. Mr. Michael Sheck is involved in OWA, Occupational Work Adjustment. Mrs. Betty Schmeling teaches chemistry, and Mr. Ray Pignatiello is a new math teacher. This was an exciting year for everyone, especially with the many new faces.

-C. Betts
There is one day in the year when a person feels an unexplainable sense of freedom and importance, his birthday. This occasion becomes more special if the person is a Euclid student. On this day, everything seems to be going the right way, even the teachers have a little sympathy for each individual.

One of the birthday traditions at Euclid is the decorating of the outside of the person’s locker by his friends. The decorations are usually signs, covered with balloons and printed with the person’s name and a message. Sometimes the decorators do not stop with the outside but fill the inside with balloons, confetti, and other surprising items.

Among the most memorable events in a person’s high school years would be none other than the 16th birthday. The 16th year symbolizes the year a work permit can be obtained, the year a person gains more respect, and last but definitely not least the right to obtain a driver’s license. These moments will be remembered and cherished.

Throughout the four years spent in high school, there will be many other important days, but birthdays play a major role in making lasting memories. On his birthday, a person may see his name in the Student Bulletin or hear his name on the morning announcements, as well as constantly being wished “happy birthday” during the day. It is just too bad that this joyous occasion appears only once each year.

-C. Majers
On any given school day, one might see large posters, decorated lockers, or a performance of an Eastern Onion Singing Telegram employee in celebration of a student's birthday.
If one were to have walked through the hallways of Euclid in 1984-1985 they would have encountered a variety of clothing styles and fashions.

The styles of clothing ranged from one extreme to another. This year’s fads included fluorescent tops and socks, ankle length pants, pre-washed jeans, and long dangling earrings. Another fad was the “bob” hairstyle and the “tail.” Many students had their hair cut in a tail, some dyed blond or red.

Many Euclid students did not seem concerned with how other students judged their clothing. They wore what they preferred. The students often dressed up for special occasions or just to look especially nice for a day. Sweaters, another popular item this year, served a dual purpose: fashion and warmth.

While students looked to each other for new ideas and clothing styles, they were not influenced to wear what everyone else wore; each student dressed in what they believed looked great. At times one might have thought he was looking at “G.Q.” or “Vogue” magazine because of the pride that many Euclid students took in dressing. More than ever, Euclid proved it had class.

-B. Tingley

1985: a year of expression through apparel.
At Euclid High, there is one day a year when students can escape the routine of daily life by becoming whoever or whatever they desire. That day, or course, is Halloween. This is not only a day to dress up in creative and unique costumes, but also a day to set aside shyness and become a walking conversation piece. Anyone who dresses up may be the subject of ridicule for the entire day, especially if their costume is really outlandish or is completely different than what that person would normally wear. In spite of any harassment they might receive, many students dress up to compete for prizes.

This year, there was a wide variety of exceptional costumes that ranged from the basic ghost to the gang of primitive African women.

After another Halloween rolls by, many of the students start to think of what they will wear next year, even though most of them will not even start their costumes until the night of October 30th.

-C. Majers

The students' costumes not only showed their real personalities but their wild imaginations as well.
Renata Grabhage, Kim Rees, and friends participated in the annual Halloween Costume Contest. "Mustard and Ketchup" were two of the 3 winners.

Albin Kucmanic was "dressed to kill."

There has been an increased enrollment in Euclid's computer courses with the widespread need for computer operators in the business world. As more students show an interest in the courses, a wider range of courses are being offered. Many of the students are taking computer courses because they need computer literacy and experience for college or for a head start in the job market.

In the not so distant future, Euclid students will be faced with the problem of finding a good job. The thought of this tends to make students more aware of the training needed to succeed. Having access to one of the finest computer programs in the state, Euclid students are given the opportunity to learn everything there is to know about computers, from running to writing programs.

Although many may not realize it, upon entering a college, an individual is not asked if they are computer literate; they are expected to know how to operate a computer. For those going to college, enrollment in a computer class is a wise move.

As things are now, computers will ultimately rule the world; because of this, workers of all trades will need a background in computers. At Euclid, that background is being offered, and many students are taking advantage of it.

Winterfest 1985 got off to a terrific start on February 9, when Euclid held an all-school masquerade dance. Students were encouraged to dress in costume for the dance by being offered a $1 discount for students who came dressed as their favorite teachers, movie or music stars, or anything else that came to mind. The dance was a success and gave everyone a taste of the music it could expect the following week at the semi-formal dance.

On Friday, February 15, the Winterfest King, Queen, and their court elected Winterfest King and Queen. Unlike the courts of the past, attendants consisted of seniors only, because of a lack of interest in running by the underclassmen. Senior attendants were Pam Miller, Tammy Cantini, Chris Mihelich, John Corrigan, Mike Hrusovsky, and Jeff Smith. The assembly continued with speeches made by the winter sports coaches, and various selections played by the Stage Band. At the close of the assembly, students were reminded by Bill DeMora and Missy Malone to purchase tickets for the following night's semi-formal dance.

On Saturday, February 16, from 8:30 to 11:30, the E-Room was transformed into a festive Mardi Gras, the theme of Winterfest 1985. Couples were greeted at the door by a live jazz ensemble and a runway of colorful balloons. Masks with nametags identifying each couple added to the wall decorations. Music in the E-Room ballroom was provided by disc jockey Gary Pearle. Tickets were priced at $15 and included pictures, refreshments, and party favors.

Shortly after 9 p.m. the Winterfest King, Queen, and their court were presented and reigned over a slow dance. Senior Beth Terango commented, "Student Council obviously did much work. The decorations were well designed, the music was good, and the atmosphere was friendly." Kate Taylor added, "I liked the cute little masks; they were more creative than usual." Brent Evans summed everyone's feelings up with, "It was cruisable. The jazz band and decorations were GREAT!"

With the troubled economy, there has been an increased necessity for students to obtain jobs. Often students begin working before they turn 16; some start as early as 13 or 14. The need for money in the teen years becomes the living force behind those who choose to seek employment in their high school years.

The main reason for students to obtain jobs is the desire for extra spending money, which can no longer be obtained from parents. This income is used for going out on weekends or maybe saving for a major purchase, such as a car. The money can have another purpose that is not a mere purchase but a lifetime investment, college. With the rising cost of a college education, it has become difficult for families to afford to send their children to college. This is where the student’s after school or weekend job comes in.

One concern of parents is that the hours put into a job could be put into homework, and that the job will affect a student’s grades. With this in mind, students are encouraged to put their school work before their job, by working less hours and learning the art of time budgeting.

The most important facet of employment is the job itself. Usually the first job acquired is at a neighborhood, family-owned business, that will employ mostly under-aged workers. When a student has had some job experience, they will then try to move up to a steadier job with possibly a higher salary. The types of jobs looked for are the local fast food chains and grocery stores.

While in school, it is a good idea to have some sort of job mainly for its future benefits. A job can teach a sense of responsibility and a “real” understanding of the value of money. If nothing else, a part time job can start a student on his way toward establishing a financial background and good credit.

What is a great way to have fun with your friends? A Euclid dance! Dances were one of the most popular forms of entertainment this year, along with sport events, movies, parties and concerts.

This year started out with the Beach Party Dance, sponsored by the seniors. Everyone wore Hawaiian clothes and sunglasses. One student commented, “I liked the Beach Party Dance because it reminded me of summer vacation and brought back some great memories.”

The juniors held a Pajama Party Dance, which featured a Teddy Bear contest. Some of the old favorites were the Halloween dance and Christmas dance. Junior Laura Totarella liked the Halloween dance because “it gave me a good chance to dress up and have fun with my friends.”

The dances were also romantic, especially Homecoming and Winterfest. The theme for Homecoming was “Hollywood Nights.” While a six foot video screen showed movies of students in school, photographers took candid shots of the “stars.” Also, for the first time Euclid held a New Year’s Party.

Sports seemed popular whether students were watching them or participating in them. Panther football games ranked number one, with the season highlighted by Euclid’s victory over St. Joe’s for the first time in 14 years. Junior Tom Jarc commented, “I just like shootin’ pool at Palisades with Koos, “Z”, and Marty on weekends.”

Whether they were movies or rock concerts, shows were enjoyed by the students. The Rocky Horror Picture Show, which allows audience participation, had many Euclid visitors. One of the most popular concerts this year was Prince, who came to Cleveland in December.

Parties were also high on the list of activities for most students. MTV was popular at parties as was jammin’ the stereo.

In all, everyone had a great time at Euclid this year.

1984 and 1985 were filled with exciting community and world events. The president was elected and inaugurated, Super Bowl XIX took place, and the World's Fair was held in New Orleans.

Summer events, taking place in Euclid, included several carnivals. The annual Shore Carnival was a great success this year. There was a variety of entertainment, including live bands and rides. Another carnival was held near St. Joe's high school and provided polka music and dancing as well as diverse ethnic foods and cultures. Unfortunately, the World's Fair, which was held in New Orleans this year, was not as successful. Although many elaborate buildings were set up, the fair lost millions of dollars because of low attendance.

President Ronald Reagan was elected to a second term at the White House. In the election, he was victorious over Democratic opponent Walter Mondale in every state except New Hampshire and Washington D.C. Mondale's running mate, Geraldine Ferraro, was the first woman ever to be a part of a presidential election. On January 21, the day of Ronald Reagan's Inauguration festivities, the traditional parade up Pennsylvania Avenue had to be cancelled because of subzero temperatures. Euclid also felt the cold weather, and students enjoyed a four-day weekend because of Martin Luther King Day and the blizzard weather conditions.

Sports were also in the spotlight this year. The '84 Summer Olympics took place in Los Angeles, where the Americans went for the gold and definitely got their share. Mary Lou Retton, the massive U.S. gymnast, received the gold medal in her event, one of the many highlights of the Olympics. In Super Bowl XIX, the Forty-Niners, led by quarterback Joe Montana, beat the Miami Dolphins.

There was an abundance of events taking place in 1984-1985 that made this year as unique as ever.

Euclid gives its students a golden opportunity to become involved in student government, clubs and spirit activities. In 1984-1985, students were more involved than ever in the many activities offered after school at Euclid. Spirit and pride were at an all time high, and everyone proved that Euclid was shining bright.

Student Council: Trendsetters

Student Council, one of the most important organizations at Euclid, took a new approach this year. Spirit and getting everyone involved in all school functions were the goals of this year's council.

Many of the Student Council activities were like those done in the past and others were new to everyone. Homecoming, of course, was a great success. Immediately following Homecoming was Euclid's first Halloween Party. 250 children and their parents watched a play and magic show, sang pumpkin carols, and played games.

This year's Blood Drive surpassed its goal with 137 donators donating 111 pints of blood.

The Student Council Thanksgiving Basket Drive collected two truckloads of food for needy families, along with $442, collected in the "Penny War." For each penny a student donated, his class gained a point, but for every silver coin, there was a deduction of that coin's worth. Seniors won the competition.

In December, the Christmas hall decoration competition was held, and as always Euclid's halls were filled with holiday spirit.

The biggest change at Euclid was Student Council's first time ever New Year's Eve Party. There was all night dancing, rock videos, movies, party hats, noisemakers, lots of balloons and confetti, and tons of food, including breakfast.

Student Council also presented the annual Hall of Fame award, and worked at both spirit night and the concession stand. The Council also added to the "Panther" spiritwear collection, making it the largest ever.

They’ve Got Class

The four class cabinets were made up of many hardworking students who planned and sponsored activities for their classes.

The freshman Cabinet consisted of 11 members. Although relatively small, the cabinet was efficient and worked hard on projects throughout the year. Among their activities were Christmas hall decorations and an end-of-the-year dance.

The sophomore Cabinet was very active, consisting of 50 members. Their activities included Christmas decorations and dances. In addition, the cabinet selected a class ring company and helped select a standard side for the class rings. The very energetic sophomore class cabinet was a very spirited group, illustrated by member Sonja Reno's statement, “Class cabinet was a great way to make new friends because you work together for a good cause.”

Unlike the freshman and sophomore cabinets, the 22 member junior class cabinet was an elected one. The juniors were busy throughout the year raising money through dances and flower sales.

The senior class cabinet was composed of 15 elected members whose primary interests were to raise money for their class and to promote school and class spirit. The money from the many activities the cabinet participated in, including dances, Senior Elf Day, flower sales, and the Senior Talent Show, went toward the ultimate goal of prom in spring.

The Euclid Panther Marching Band concluded its 1984 season at Brush High School on Friday, November 2nd. For their last game the band entertained football fans with “Night Train,” “Hey Jude,” and ended their marching season on the field with a band favorite “Thriller,” which was also played for the opening of the band’s season.

Some songs they played over the season, both on the field and in the stands, were “The A Team,” “Billy Jean,” “Gloria,” “Soul Man,” and the band’s favorite, “Hot Lunch Jam.”

Arthur Sydow, the band’s director, expressed a feeling of pride for this season’s Marching Band. “I really feel this has been an outstanding season for our Marching Band, due in a large part to the excellent efforts of our band president Angelo Serra and vice president Scott Ivancic.”

Angelo Serra said, “I would like to go on record as saying this was one of the band’s most awesome years. The freshmen made a big impact as did the band parents. Much thanks to Art Sydow and Frank Taddeo.” Scott Ivancic was in agreement which illustrates the leadership quality of the band. “I think we owe much of our success to the band parents. I’m really happy with this year’s band.”

Sydow continued, “In addition to this, our majorettes and flag corps auxiliary units have been capably directed by Captain of Majorettes Joanie Hodnichak and Flag Corps Captains Chris Brisbine and Carol Kristoff, who said, “I had a great season and a fun time working with the corps.”

Gabrielle Holland, a senior, looked back on this season comparing it with her past years of band. “We accomplished more this year. The first year marchers picked up the new routines well. We have better players and more school spirit.”

Sydow also wished to give credit to the show designers. “Last, but not least, I’m very proud of the Marching Band shows that have been designed by the students in our band.”

Marching Band
The 1984-1985 Flag Corps began its preparation for the season in late June with practices held weekly at the high school. This was followed by the annual summer camp held at Willoughby South in late July.

The squad was considerably larger than previous groups, consisting of 16 girls, led by captain Chris Brisbine and co-captain Carol Kristoff. Along with the weekly halftime shows, the girls also performed at Forest Park Junior High, the Marching Band Concert and two basketball games. The girls all agreed that performing in front of the thousands of people attending the games was definitely a feeling they will never forget and made the many hours of practice well worth it. Jennifer Marrott, a first year member, stated, "The practices were a lot of hard work, but the girls were all great and I gained a lot of new friends throughout the season."

The Euclid Panther Majorettes experienced much change this season with experiments made by Captain Joanie Hodnichak.

One of the changes included a new blue with gold accent uniforms. These uniforms were worn during halftime. The traditional gold uniforms were still used for pre-game.

Also, the majorettes displayed new dimensions of baton twirling using various props as well as different types of batons. These props included stream batons and mock fire batons. Top hats, capes and maniac shirts were also used to emphasize a show.

Part of the improvement made this season was due to the more positive feeling of this year’s majorettes. This year the majorettes have adopted a pro-Euclid attitude and showed this in their performances. The new majorettes were eager to learn to march Panther style.

Captain Joanie Hodnichak said “I love working with the team; I think it has been a very productive season. I had many more opportunities and freedoms to try new things such as new routines with props.”

Cheerleading practice started in May and continued during the summer with cheerleading camp held at Malone College in Canton, Ohio. While in camp, the cheerleaders worked on improving their cheers and mounts. During the school year, practices were held two times per week. The varsity cheerleaders helped keep the crowd awake during the pep rallies on the days of the St. Joseph and Mayfield football games. During the week of Homecoming, the varsity cheerleaders participated in the bonfire ceremony and banner contest in which they took second place.

The junior varsity cheerleaders not only cheered at JV football games but at important varsity football games as well. Their presence helped make the games against St. Joseph and Maple Heights successful because of their support for the football team and their help in selling tickets for the game ball. They also helped sell spirit buttons, ribbons, and stickers. Varsity cheerleading captain Beth Neiman felt that the cheerleaders "worked hard and had a great season."

S. Seon

The 1984-1985 Varsity Basketball cheerleading squad was as enthusiastic and spirited as ever.

Mrs. Wandersleben, the cheerleading advisor, said the one thing she wished to accomplish was to bring the girls together, so they would look good as a group.

The girls practiced every Tuesday and Thursday from 3:00 to 4:00. During this time, the girls on the squad worked on improving their mounts, cheers, and gymnastic skills. With hard work, the girls brought unity and style to the squad.

The 1984-1985 squad was hard-working, talented, and spirited, and the girls had a great season.

Fall Play Brews Success

The Fall play, Arsenic and Old Lace, directed by Mrs. Judith McLaughlin, began its production with try-outs in early September. After nearly two months of rehearsals the new show opened on November 15th and continued performances on the 16th and 17th.

The leading roles were played by Sue Jazbec as Abby Brewster, Gabrielle Holland as Martha Brewster, and Jeff Smith as Mortimer Brewster. Jazbec and Holland captured the charm of two slightly dingy but well meaning old aunts. Smith proved to be a perfect straight man for the excellent timings of the two aunts. The supporting cast included: Vince Kovacic, Tom Larkins, Raymond Leonard, Amy Terango, Michelle Micale, Margo Miner, Peter Hogrefe, John Bolsar, Kim Mable, Jim Kendro and Paula Schaffer.

The success of the show was further enhanced by the dedication of the production staff. The magnificent turn of the century interior was constructed by Mr. Robert McLaughlin and assistants Pat McLaughlin and Jim Kendro.

With wonderful costumes, set and hilarious lines, Arsenic and Old Lace was a great success.

The 1984-1985 school year upheld tradition and demonstrated the excellence of Euclid's many talented musicians. Mr. Arthur Sydow supervised the various bands with assistance from Mr. Joel Sarich and Mr. Al D'Emilia. The various bands included Stage Band, Concert Band, and Pep Band.

The Stage Band, directed by Mr. Sarich, played mostly jazz. It is basically a brass ensemble with additions, such as percussion, electric guitar, and flute. The Stage Band practiced every Tuesday evening to prepare for its school concerts and performances at shopping centers and malls.

The Concert Band consisted of about sixty dedicated students. The band gave concerts for both students and the public.

The Pep Band consisted of twelve members directed by Angelo Serra and Scott Ivancic. An informal group of musicians, the Pep Band practiced after school to promote Panther spirit and pride at home basketball games.

The Sound Of Music

The orchestra is an organization in which students from all grade levels participated. The 1984-1985 orchestra, directed by Mr. Robert Hutson, started its year with a bang. Its first concert was an accompaniment to the choir. It had two more concerts in the winter and spring. Both were very successful.

The orchestra enjoyed many excellent first stand players. These included:

- Violins: Peggy Fischer and April Westover, second violins: Val Zupancic and Kathy Waltermire, violas: Beth Terango and Kelly Bezdek, cellos: Dean Theodosion and Sharon Goldrich, and bass: Dennis McGrath.

Many orchestra members were involved in other orchestras. In Regional orchestra, the members included Peggy Fischer, who also made All State, Pam Miller, Dean Theodosion, and Dennis McGrath.

Mr. Hutson commented, “It is an honor for these students to be chosen for this orchestra.”

The orchestra’s officers included president Peggy Fischer, librarian Beth Terango, secretary April Westover, and stage director Dennis McGrath.

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble consisted of 40 of the most talented band members. It was a very elite group and auditions were held for the places in it.

Throughout the year, Euclid's Varsity Chorale made preparations for the choral competition to be held in New York. When asked if they had a chance at a medal, Mary Wirbel replied, "Of course. Everyone should think positively and try the best they can."

In addition to the competition in New York, Varsity Chorale spent much of its time spreading its songs throughout the area. The group performed at the Euclid Square Mall, Euclid General Hospital, the school's annual Christmas and spring concerts, and many other locations.

The 1984-1985 Varsity Chorale was distinguished from past Chorales by the presence of a few sophomores. Mr. Robert Godfrey felt that some of the sophomores possessed real talent.

The Choral Masters, normally composed of juniors and seniors, also had some sophomore members. The major performances of the Choral Masters were the annual Christmas and spring concerts.

The American Field Service (AFS) is an organization that encourages an understanding of people from other cultures. Each year a Euclid family hosts a foreign exchange student, while Euclid sends some of their students abroad.

Heidi Neilson, from Denmark, was this year’s foreign exchange student. Tammy Cantini, one of last year’s summer exchange students, travelled to Tunisia, and Kim Mabel spent the summer abroad in Brazil.

The student club, sponsored by Mrs. Cowan, played a major role in the organization. The members learned from the exchange students’ experiences about other cultures. The club also had many fund raisers and social activities. A visit to an ethnic restaurant and helping at the Oktoberfest, the adult chapter’s fund raiser, were two of these activities. The club also sponsored a Short Term Exchange. In December, 12 members of the club went to New York for three days and later hosted students from New York.

AFS meetings were held approximately three times each month, on Mondays and Tuesdays, and members enjoyed many cultural experiences.
Pictured here is the most active family in A.F.S. Kim was co-president of student chapter and was a 1984 AA (American Abroad) to Brazil. Mr. and Mrs. William Mabel were presidents of the adult AFS Euclid chapter. Their older daughter Beth, now attending Wooster College, was an AA in Finland in 1980. The family hosted a boy from Greece in 1982-83, Christos Gikas.
School/Community Liaisons

The Key Club, sponsored by Mr. Black, is an organization serving the school and community. One of Key Club's responsibilities this year was to raise money for charities, including the Mary Mavec Euclid Opportunity School for Retarded Children and Muscular Dystrophy. A swing-a-thon was the source of most of the money contributed to the two charities. The Key Club also participated in this year's Special Olympics, cheering on the participants and working at the concession stand. The club gave students a chance to become involved, by helping those in need.

The "Athletic Department Club," sponsored by Mr. Raicevich, is better known to students as the "Ad Club." The number of students involved with Ad Club has increased during the past few years. There were 53 girls in Ad Club this year, selling tickets at sporting events and assisting in athletic functions. The club members worked in two shifts, enabling them to see half of each game and were admitted without charge.

Among the many activities for students at Euclid this year was the Foreign Language Club. The club promoted culture and exposed students to different languages. Naturally, much of the interest in the club came from the study of a foreign language, but knowledge of a language was not required. This year approximately ten students participated in the club, the highlight of the year being a trip to New York in the spring. The club provided an opportunity to be in contact with cultural experiences. As president Beth Terango stated, "The Foreign Language Club has enriched the lives of its members by providing an exposure to culture that one would not get in an ordinary school situation."

Help From Friends

Peer Tutors, a group organized by Mrs. Smith, Mr. Friedman and Mrs. Spiga, was very successful this year. The group had between 50 and 60 tutors recommended by teachers for various subjects.

"The program is beneficial to both the tutor and the student," commented Mr. Friedman, "because it enhances the knowledge of the tutor while helping other students learn." Tutoring took place during study halls, lunch periods and after school; tutors were matched by subject and schedule to their students.

While most students were encouraged by their parents or referred to the program by their teachers, some were students from other countries who hoped to learn better English. The program was a success for all involved.

Peer Counselors, sponsored by counselor Mrs. Davis and foreign language teacher Mrs. Hodgins, worked to help students see their options when trying to solve personal problems. The counselors' biggest effort was made in the area of chemical dependency.

The counselors referred their cases, which remained confidential, to associations that might be helpful to them, and did not give advice but alternatives. Often students were just looking for someone to talk to, and peer counselors helped them to find an outlet to their problems.

Extensive training was involved with becoming a counselor. Many of the counselors were students recovering from chemical dependency who hoped to prevent other students from becoming involved with chemicals. In addition, chemical awareness programs were held in elementary and junior high schools. Teachers and adult counselors were pleased with the results of the program and student participants found their work very rewarding.

The Outdoor Club was open to anyone who enjoyed outdoor activities. The club gave its members an opportunity to go camping, canoeing, back-packing, and ice skating. The meetings were held on the first Tuesday of the month or more often if necessary. The club was led by Mr. Soltesz and assisted by Miss Black and Mr. VonBenken. Mr. Soltesz has been sponsor for the club for approximately ten years. The club was open to the entire student body, but its members were mostly freshmen this year. The first weekend campout was held on October 26-28 at Madison E.C.A. Cabin. Many members participated in the weekend and said they had a great time!

The Media Aides assisted Mr. Black with the operation and maintenance of audio-visual equipment in the school.

Going For The Snow

Membership Approaches Century Mark

ith membership at 99 students the Euclid High School Ski Club was one of the largest clubs in the school. Winter started late this year and Winter Vacation was very warm. January, however, was colder and the ski club began skiing after vacation. Two busses of students went skiing on Thursday evenings to Boston Mills Ski Area. On Martin Luther King Day many of the members went to ski at Cockaigne Ski Area in New York. The Ski club was an excellent way for students to become exposed to the thrill of skiing and the bitter cold.

Euclid's newspaper, the Survey, was a unique way to keep students informed about school activities and the community. Advisors Mr. Frank Jablonski and Mr. Justin Antonini along with Jim Korzun, the editor, kept things running smoothly throughout the year. The Survey's staff circulated the newspaper during lunch periods, four or five times during the year. Near the close of the "1984-1985" school year, the Survey printed a special issue entitled "Senior Scandal." In addition to informing the students about school activities, the newspaper helped to develop writing skills. The Survey was a tool for its members, enabling them to enhance their communication's skills.

A very dedicated group of students from Euclid met approximately once each week this year to produce a literary magazine. The group was the staff of the Eucuyo, a magazine that included poems, short stories, short plays and art work. To have their work published students submitted it themselves or it was submitted by their English teacher. The staff met each Wednesday to read copy material, make selections, and proofread. The staff was relatively small but efficient, with ten regular members. Eucuyo consisted of mostly seniors, juniors, and a few sophomores, but occasionally freshmen participated in the selection. The Editor of the Eucuyo, Beth Terango, was assisted by editors Kate Taylor (poems) and Sonya Sezun (plays, dramas). Art editor Sharon Kelly and typists Launi Leeper and Angie McReynolds also provided assistance. Editor Beth Terango commented, "The magazine was a much needed and well respected addition to our school's literary facets. It has helped me to appreciate good poetry."

Putting The Year Together

The Euclidian saw a major change this year. Veteran advisor of eleven years, Mr. Petrovic, moved on to other responsibilities. Assuming it would take two to fill his shoes, he was replaced by art teacher Miss Arthur and chemistry teacher Mr. Von Benken.

Student editor, Leanne Sterbank, had a small but dedicated staff. Many after-school hours were spent in the yearbook office writing copy, making layouts, hunting for pictures, hunting for pictures again and finally, cropping them.

The inexperience of the new advisors was offset to a large degree by an excellent editor and her staff. This book would not have been possible were it not for Leanne’s organizational and leadership abilities. We wish to extend our sincere appreciation and respect to her.

Computers played an important part in this year’s book since we were able to write copy and index names and pages with them. This took much of the chore out of proof reading. (If anyone happens to run across one of our lost stories somewhere in some computer, they may keep it.)

Love,

Sports played an important role in every student’s life in 1984-1985. Athletes involved in any of the many sports offered at Euclid glittered on the fields and courts alike, and while many students were not involved in sports themselves, everyone shared in the glory of victories such as the St. Joe’s football game.

ed by the new coach Jim Rat-yay, the 1984 football season proved to be the best since 1970 with an 8-2 record and the team ranked among the top teams produced from Euclid. Due to the swarming deference and lightning quick offense Euclid was ranked second only to Mayfield in the G.C.C.

Euclid's success can be attributed to 31 returning seniors one half of which were starters in their junior year. Redefensiveen included: Bill Urquhart, Adam Kozlowski, John Harris. Other major contributors to the first ranked rushing defense in the area were seniors Nick Minardo, Jim Kronik, Joe Gubanc, junior Dan Mannello and

Other highlights in Euclid's season were a record of 62 points scored in a game, most points scored in the entire season in the G.C.C. and the win over St. Joe's. Dave Potokar led the G.C.C. with six interceptions followed by Adam Kozlowski, Vic Pringle and John Harris with three each. Kurt
Conway rushed over 1000 yds. and Tom Gavin was third in the G.C.C. games for rushing. Euclid's leading receiver was Mark Pekol followed by Eric Tomash and Mike Baker.

Special awards were given to Joe

An Outstanding Season
Panther Defense And Ground Game
Key To 2nd Place G.C.C. Finish

Tony Ciuprinskas, Mike Hrusovsky, Bill Urquhart, Joe Gubanc, and Matt Malaney take a breather as the second string takes over.

Varsity Football
Kurt Conway (34), Mark Pekol (82), Tom Gavin (32), and Dave Olszens (30) ready themselves for offensive action.
vs. Cleveland Hts.

 Opportunity knocked, but Euclid led its opener due to penalties, with only 52 seconds left in the game. The margin of penalties was 19-55 yards. The Panthers scored first in the second quarter on a 12-yard play, 33-yard drive. Kurt Conway got most of the work in the drive, gaining 65 of his 112 yards on eight carries, including his 23-yard touchdown run. Bill Campbell's kick was good for the extra point. In the third-quarter Campbell hit a 38-yard field goal. Mark Pekol led the way with two grids for 20 yards. John Harris and Bill Urquhart both recovered fumbles by Cleveland Hts.

vs. St. Joseph

Euclid slaughtered St. Joseph 40-16 in the hometown rivalry.

vs. Geneva

The stingy Euclid defense slammed the door on Geneva 21-3. Helping the defense with an interception each were Adam Kozlowski, John Harris, Matt Malancy. Other contributors to the stingy defense were Mike Hrusovsky and Vic Pringle. Euclid started the scoring drive with Dana Gollner going in from the three. Campbell's kick was good. Harris set the stage for the second drive with an interception on the Geneva 46-yard line. Gollner then scored from the one and Campbell's kick was good. Euclid's final score came on a 26-yard interception return by Malancy. Tom Gavin paced Euclid's rushing attack with 90 yards on 12 carries, Kurt Conway added 63 yards and Gollner chipped in 21.

vs. Mayfield

A controversial call and many penalties were causes in Euclid's loss to Mayfield. Euclid was penalized 90 yards compared to Mayfield's 62. Many penalties cost Euclid decent field position, and one denied them the ball. One of the bright spots in the loss to Mayfield were interceptions by Vic Pringle and Dave Potokar and Kurt Conway's 63 yards in 16 carries. The controversial call was a pass from Gollner to Mike Baker who grabbed the ball at the same time a Mayfield defensive back fell on the three yard line, for which was ruled an interception for Mayfield.

vs. North

Euclid's depth and strength was too much for North due to the passing of Paul Papageorge, who completed seven of nine passes and the running of Tom Gavin, who spurned up the middle for 110 yards in 17 carries. It was Euclid's first shutout of the season. Gavin started the scoring drive with a run from the three and Campbell's kick was good. Papageorge then threw an 11-yard pass to Eric Tomash for a TD. For the two points Nick Minardo threw a pass to Mark Pekol, Pekol then threw an 8-yard pass to Pekol for the last TD and Campbell added the extra point.

Dana Gollner quarterbacked the football team to an 8-2 record. Coach Rafferty directed the team from the sidelines.
Euclid "SWARM" took the sting out of Mentor to register its second straight shutout of the season. Mentor was on the four and after four tries Euclid's defense held them away from a TD. Gollner scored the first TD from the one yard line and also the second from the one. Both of Campbell's kicks were good. Gavin finished the game with 117 yards in 23 carries and Conway finished with 108 yards in 15 carries. The Panther defense held Mentor in rushing to 83 yards compared to the 215 rushing yards of Euclid.

vs. Maple Heights
The Panthers dismantled Maple Heights in their Homecoming game. A record amount of points were scored, 42 points. Euclid's leading rushers were Kurt Conway, who ran for 174 yards on 15 carries, and Tom Gavin who rushed for 154 yards on ten carries. Conway led the scoring parade with three rushing TDs. Gavin added two and Ed Tekiehl, Mike Hrusovsky, Matt Linen and Tony Lauria added one each. Hrusovsky scored on a return of a blocked punt. As a team, Euclid gathered 422 yards compared to 186 total yards for Maple.

vs. Willoughby South
Once again Euclid's defense did an outstanding job, intercepting five passes and held South to just 143 yards. Euclid's first score came after a Joe Gulbane interception. Conway scored from the three and then Gavin scored from the three also. Both conversion kicks were good by Campbell. Conway then scored again from the one yard line. Conway picked up 134 yards for 19 carries and Tom Gavin picked up 106 yards for 17 carries.

vs. Bedford
Euclid ripped Bedford 28-6. The Panthers scoring came from Conway and Gavin. Conway scored on a seven yard run and then on a six yard run. Gavin scored on a one yard run and then an 11 yard run. All four of Campbell's kicks were good. Defensively, the Panthers came up with four turnovers on two fumble recoveries by Dan Mannello and Joe Gulbane and two interceptions by Adam Kozlowski and Dave Potokar.

vs. Brush
Euclid ended its season with a victory over Brush, the finishing touch to a glowing season. Euclid scored in the second and third quarters. The first TD was set up by a Potokar interception. Gollner snuck the ball up the middle from one yard out for the TD. The snap was fumbled on the extra point attempt and no kick ever got off. For the next TD, Kurt Conway and Tom Gavin ran the ball the entire way with Gavin, who rushed for a game high 116 yards on 21 carries, taking the ball from four yards out. Euclid made up for the earlier missed kick with a two-point run by Conway. Once again the defense did a great job of stopping the Brush offense in crucial fourth downs. Thus ending a superb 1984 football season.
The cry was, "We beat Joe's!" Euclid did more than that. It stunned St. Joe's and all of the fans too. If anybody was ready for the Euclid-St. Joe rivalry, it was Euclid. The players were psyched and the scoreboard showed it, 40-16.

It has been 14 years since Euclid beat St. Joe's and only the third time in 26 games. The whole team did an outstanding job.

The onslaught began when Kurt Conway bolted in from the two to start Euclid's scoring and Bill Campbell's extra point gave the Panthers a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. The next TD was scored by Dana Gollner's one yard spurt and again Campbell's conversion kick was right on target to make the lead 14-0. Euclid boosted it's bulge by a 19-yard pass from Gollner to Mark Pekol for another TD and Campbell added the extra point. Once again, Conway scored another TD from the one yard line, but a high snap denied Euclid the extra point. Euclid cushioned it's lead before the half with Gollner connecting on two passes to Mike Baker and then to Pekol from seven yards out to give Euclid another TD. Once again, Campbell's kick was good. In the last quarter, Gollner went in from the one for Euclid's final score. Looking at Kurt Conway's 121 yards in 24 carries, Tom Gavin's 80 yards in 16 carries, Pekol's four receptions for 50 yards and Baker's three grabs for 51 yards, one can say that the Panther's team did awesome overall. Another great asset in the win was the Panther defense. They limited St. Joe's to 144 yards on the ground. Euclid's secondary had one interception by Dave Potokar.

Nobody, especially the senior class, will ever forget everybody running onto the field in the final seconds of the game. The final verdict: a victorious Euclid team and a stunned St. Joe's team. The feeling of beating St. Joe's will never be forgotten. First the cry was "We want Joe's!" Then Euclid got Joe's, and Euclid BEAT Joe's. The final score of 40-16 will live in the memories of the students and fans of E.H.S. forever. Way to go Euclid!

Action early in the game.
The task was not easy . . . but the Panthers meant business . . . and the scoreboard told the story.
Like everyone else, Tom Gavin and Vic Pringle were jubilant about the victory.
The JV football team finished a disappointing season, 3-5-2. This team did improve the record from last year. The J.V. team finished the season with a 6-2 win over Brush. It was a good way to finish a tough season. Offensively, Shawn Johnson ran well behind John Karabinus and Rob Lapuh. On defense there were four good linebackers: Kevin Grablovic, Mike Kekic, Marty Lisac, Tony Lauria.

The Freshman football team concluded their season with a come-from behind victory over a strong Bedford team 22-20. Euclid outscored their opponents 144-46 in the season. The success of this year's team was due to the players' willingness to work hard together as a unit. Outstanding players were: Jeryl Browder, Shawn Davis, Rick Hornyak, John Kronik, Lenny Nieves, Ed Powers, Joe Vehar, Derrick Walton, Paul Kudlak.

Freshman Football
The Varsity soccer team did not enjoy a very successful 1984-1985 season; however, it failed to become discouraged and continued to put forth its best effort.

Captain and goalie Marko Prpic was named most valuable player and was named to the Class AAA East Side all-star first team. Defense award went to Brian Polaski, offense award to Dave Hall and hustler award went to co-captain and midfielder Derrick Stewart, who was also named to the Class AAA East Side all-star second team. Marko Prpic guided the team through its rough season with skill and encouragement.

The Junior Varsity soccer team had an upsetting season, with a 0-13-0 record.

As the season progressed, John Gibbons became the team's new coach, helping to build up the team's character. Top scorers were Paul Rose, Mike Hall, and Lou Paroska. The team's outstanding player was Bob Airhart, the starting defender.

Although the Freshman soccer team won only one game, a great amount of talent was displayed on the field, throughout the season.

Coach Richard Homovec believed that every player should be given the opportunity to play. The players were given experience in most of the positions to prepare them for their junior varsity year.

Euclid Golfers Capture A Swinging 3rd In The GCC

The Panther golfers enjoyed a winning season this year, finishing third in the G.C.C. Although they were not able to match the championship seasons of the last two years, the Panther golfers put forth an excellent effort. Outstanding performances from the two senior lettermen on the team, Mark Raicevich and Matt Bryda, both averaging 39, were not enough to make this year the third victory in a row.

Junior Gary Paparizos, sophomore Jeff Slattery, and freshman Dave Berke rounded out the starting five and performed well enough to provide a solid nucleus for the 1984-1985 season. Finishing the roster were senior rookies Brian McPeek and Joe Smollic, who alternated in the fifth position with freshman, Dave Berke. Led by Coach Raicevich, Euclid's golf team shone in their 1984-1985 season.

Trivia: Who Is Euclid's Favorite Senior Tennis Ace?

The Euclid girl's tennis team, made up of one senior, five juniors, four sophomores and four freshmen, ended its season with five wins and nine losses. The inexperienced and young team was plagued by injury and illness, affecting their record.

The only experienced members of the team were sophomore Chris Duricy at first singles, junior Norma Jalovec at second singles, sophomore Katrina Oroz at third singles and senior Darnise Stephens at first doubles, whose usual partner, Sandy Bolivar, played her first year of tennis.

The second doubles team of Tina Nolidis and Debbie Fekete, also in their first year of competition, earned their varsity letters. Participating in varsity matches were freshmen Val Stupica and Barb Cermak, sophomores Colleen Wajahn and Kelly Bezdek and junior Mary Wirbel. Freshman Sue Schilling was also readily available to play for the team.

Despite the season's record, the girl's tennis team finished on a positive note by defeating Notre Dame Academy and Gilmour Academy. The doubles teams of Chris Duricy and Norma Jalovec and Darnise Stephens and Katrina Oroz played well in the sectional tournament. However, their attempts fell short of qualifying for the districts, being defeated by top seeded teams from Rocky River and Lakewood. Also participating in the sectionals were Tina Nolidis, Sandy Bolivar and Valerie Stupica.

Although the team lacked experience, the girls gave the season their best efforts.

Girls' Tennis
The Panthers’ cross country team headed into state competition, vastly improved after a rocky showing in the G.C.C. The runners took third place in the conference, first and second place in the sectional meet and a second place in district final to qualify for state competition.

Euclid competed in many other major meets. In the Cloverleaf Invitational, Euclid took fifth place after running against many top teams in Northern Ohio. A third place trophy was awarded to the Harriers for their strong showing at the Coaches’ Classic. The last race of the year was the G.C.C. meet in which Euclid placed second out of eight teams.

Eight Panther runners headed to the state meet. These included: co-captains Jim Allay and Ed Lunder and team members: Scott Burton, Bill Bell, Josh Ford, Mark Smith, Gary Williams, and Marty Tomasi. The exceptional team effort won them a tenth place ranking.

The girl’s cross country team, led by Coach David Saywell and co-captains Tina Day and Kris Faletic, finished the 1984-1985 season by placing second in the G.C.C., the result of the outstanding performances the girls made throughout the season. Kris Faletic, a senior, was voted most outstanding overall, while Kim Marvin was voted most outstanding sophomore. Monica Simmons, also a sophomore, was most improved overall. The coach, David Saywell, also commented, “It was a very successful season considering that three of the top five runners were sophomores and the fourth was a first year runner.” With four of the five top runners being underclassmen, we can expect many outstanding veterans to return next year.

ports fans who went to varsity volleyball games were able to see the players' skills and determination. This was a result of team work and constant practice. Volleyball began in July and August with open gym practices. Mandatory practices began August 15 and lasted from 9:30 A.M. until 12:00 noon.

Some varsity volleyball players attended volleyball camp. This camp was given at Cleveland State University for five days. During those days, the players practiced their volleyball skills and received tips on how to improve those skills.

During the regular season, the varsity volleyball players practiced daily. Their practices after school lasted from 3:00 until 5:00.

Overall, the varsity volleyball team's record was 15 wins and 7 losses. In the GCC their record was 9 wins and 5 losses, placing them fourth in the final standings. Their hard work and dedication paid off.

The junior varsity volleyball team had an excellent season. This was due to team work, cooperation and numerous practices. Some of the players attended the five day volleyball camp at Cleveland State University where they practiced and improved their volleyball skills.

According to Kellie Curtis, “Inconsistent players were the team’s biggest problems.” Despite inconsistent players, the junior varsity volleyball team had an overall record of 12 wins and 7 losses. In the GCC their record was 9 wins and 5 losses, placing them fourth in the final standings.

Because of team work and practice, the junior varsity volleyball team had an excellent season.

Spirit Comes Alive In '85
Euclid's Spiritual Revival Includes Line Of Spiritwear

Spiritwear was new at EHS this year. The selling of spiritwear was an idea developed by Mr. McGuinness and Miss Bambic. Miss Bambic oversaw the entire project and was in charge of ordering and selling the spiritwear.

The purpose of the spiritwear was to promote school spirit among the students and faculty. Schools such as St. Joseph and Mentor sold spiritwear for profit. At EHS spiritwear was not sold for profit. However, what little money was made went into the school's general fund.

Among the spiritwear items were buttons, painter caps, bumper stickers, sweatshirts, and sweaters with "Euclid" embroidered on the front. Prices ranged from 75c for buttons to $6.00 for sweaters. All items sold were displayed in the front showcase.

Miss Bambic was surprised by the excitement displayed by the students about the spiritwear. Students and faculty members even bought spiritwear to be used as Christmas gifts. Miss Bambic noted that the faculty's enthusiasm was an indication of the pride the faculty members feel for their workplace. Spiritwear easily helped the Student Council reach its goal of promoting school spirit.

Bouncin' For The Gold

Despite Slow Start
Euclid Cagers Finish Strong

The Boys' Varsity Basketball Team started a slow season with a 0-5 record. The first victory came with a win over Geneva, after losing to Mayfield, their record standing at 1-6. Euclid won nine of the next twelve games. The victories included two wins over both Brush and South, and one over Mentor, Mayfield, North, Bay, Wickliffe, and Madison. The Mayfield and Mentor victories were the two biggest games of the season, and proved the team had what it takes to be a success.

The most valuable players on the team were seniors co-captain Ed Tekieli, who averaged 18 points a game, Mike Hoag, who averaged 12 points a game, and co-captain Mike Hrusovsky, who was the leading rebounding player. Co-captain Ed Tekieli shone in his performance on the courts, chalking up 28 points at the South game and 27 points at the Madison game; he was rewarded for his hard work by making the Plain Dealer Dream Team.

As the 1984-1985 Varsity Basketball season progressed, Rich Johnson was brought up from the junior varsity squad, and Derek Walton was brought up from the freshman squad. The team vastly improved with their help and the assistance of a few members who had become eligible. Additional contributors to the team were Dave Myles, Lee Kooser, Jim Hope, and Tom Lewin. The team worked well together and ended their season with a smash.

The 1984-1985 Freshman Basketball season was a learning experience for most of its young players. As a result of hard work and practice, the team improved both individually and as a whole. Derek Evans, Kevin Hudson, and A.J. Parker stood out from the group as solid leaders. In an upset of previously undefeated Maple Heights, the three players combined efforts to win over 40 points in the 59-56 victory. Although the squad lacked experience at the beginning of the season, the team finished its last game with added skill and pride.

This year's Junior Varsity Basketball Team won 13 consecutive games, proving it had what it takes to be a success. The key to success for the team was its fast break offense and half court press defense. The team out-scored their opponents by 12 points in each game, 52-40 as an average score. Tri-captains of the squad were Rich Johnson, Derek Walton, and Vernon Massingill. After Johnson and Walton were moved up to the varsity team, the team continued to be successful as Carl Sicavage and Pat McLaughlin picked up the slack.

The girls’ 1984-1985 season was highlighted by the Thanksgiving Tournament early in the season, as well as playing the top team in the league. The team worked hard, learning from each other’s mistakes and improved as the season progressed by learning to work together. Spirit and the enthusiasm of supportive parents and friends helped the team to be a success. The girls had won ten and lost nine, as they entered their last game of the season. Girl’s Varsity Basketball
Underclass Roundballers Excel
Freshmen And Junior Varsity Provide Talent For Next Year's Varsity

The 1984-1985 Girls' Freshman Basketball Team consisted of nine hardworking members. They practiced long hours and Saturdays to accomplish their 10-0 record. The girls were known around the school as the "Pepsi" girls because the players wore "Pepsi" shirts to practice, distinguishing them as part of the ninth grade team. Coach Cantini, the girls' coach, believed in a family aspect for the team, where the "whole" team wins or loses the game. The team did not have any individual stars, because the players worked hard as a team. Coach Cantini explained that, "Ninth grade basketball is to learn the fundamentals of the game, have fun, and become the stars of tomorrow."

The Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball Team had a very successful season, with a 15-4 record. Mr. Ray Force, their coach, was described as being very eager to help and to encourage.

The girls put much hard work and effort into long practices, running laps and doing drills to enhance their performance. Hard work was rewarded, and the girls won eight consecutive games. One of their most thrilling games was a victory over undefeated Eastlake North, with a score of 42-32. The team had a great season and topped it off with a Conference record of 11-3.

It was a long and difficult season for Euclid's 1984-1985 hockey team, dealing with a young team and facing difficult opponents. Underclassmen dominated the ice with only four seniors playing for the team. The Panther icers, coached by Mr. Brent Figueira and led by senior co-captains Jim Allay and Dan Connors, finished the season with a 4-15-1 record.

"Working with a relatively young and inexperienced team was the toughest part of the season," senior Jim Allay said, "but there was a comaraderie that held the team together." The toughest games of the season were played in a Christmas tournament in Findlay, where the team's record was 0-3. The best played game by the team was a tie in overtime with Trinity.

Leading the team offensively was sophomore Chad Ramlow, who also was the highest scorer of the season. The leading defensive player was sophomore Dave Potokar. The team worked well together, and captains Jim Allay and Dan Connors were "always the ones to get the team psyched up," said one team member.

The players put much time and effort into the season and faced difficult teams with pride and determination throughout the season.

Wrestlers Have Productive Season
But Come Up Short

Although plagued with many unfortunate injuries, the Panther wrestlers proved to be a strong team. Wrestlers that were out with knee injuries included senior captain Bob King, Joe Scolaro, Jim Hall, Brad King, and Joe Aquila.

Having 11 underclassmen and only three seniors the wrestlers still were a very strong team. Joe Acolaro believed the best match of the season was the triangular against Lake Catholic and Madison, where the team tied with Lake at 31 and was victorious over Madison with a score of 36-28. “We fought from behind and came back and tied in the final match,” said Joe.

Other victories included matches against North, Cleveland Heights, West Geauga, and Richmond Heights. The team placed third at the Richmond Heights Tournament. When asked about his feelings concerning the team’s performance, Mr. King replied, “Fantastic, the best in four years. The injuries held us back.”

Outstanding records were made by Joe Aquirra (98), Jack DeBoe (105), Brad King (112), Chris Papouras (119), Bob King (167), and Dave Jackson (175). Brad King commented that “this year’s team was pretty good except for a few losses which were heartbreakers. But in the sport of wrestling that’s the law of the jungle.”

When You Need Help . . .

The Sports Aides were a great help to the athletes and coaches at Euclid this year. Their jobs were essential to the teams and varied with each activity.

Swim Timers were responsible for timing the swimmers and carrying the results of each race to the judges. Hockey Aides kept track of the number of goals at each game, and the Basketball Aides kept the court clean by sweeping both before and after each game, as well as helping in case of an injury. The aides of each sport worked hard to keep their events running smoothly and to allow the coaches and athletes to concentrate on their performances.

These People Will Come To Your Aide.

One of the most important jobs of a Sports Aide is to cheer their team on. The encouragement team members receive from fans and their aides can make the difference between a victory and loss. The dedication and hard work of the Sports Aides were appreciated by the coaches, athletes, and fans, for without their assistance the sporting events would not have been as great a success.

Sports Aides
Beginning their season with a win over Akron Buchtel, Euclid's underground runners were ready for a winning season. The team worked hard, practicing every day after school and hoping to maintain their reputation of being undefeated. Unfortunately, they suffered a loss to their arch-rival John Adams with a score of 81-59. This loss did not plummet the spirits of the runners, and they bounced back the following meet with a victory over Shaker. Leading the team in the sprinting events were Mike Baker, Kurt Conway, Mike Thompson, Ray Ward, and Tom Gavin. Larry Brooks and Mike Baker led the hurdles, while Brian Daily and Bob Milicevic displayed great talent in the field events. The strong team of distance runners included captain Gary Williams, Scott Burton, Joshua Ford, and Marty Tomasi. The outstanding high jumper was Rob Carlson, and in the shotput events Greg Mata, Chuck Bauch, and Tom Gavin led the way. Lenny DiPaolo and Chad Ramlow were the team's leading pole vaulters.

Outstanding girls included Tina Day, Robin Ramlow, Abby Bell, Sue Guip, and Julie Barcza in distance events and Dyon Preston in sprinting events.

All Swimmers Contribute And Make 1984-1985 A Winning Season

The Boys' Swim Team began its season with a 45-39 loss to Berea, but the 200-meter medley relay team of Bill Bell, Kevin Nainiger, Mike Mehls, and Jim Bowdouris qualified for the Cleveland State Invitational. Mehls also made a personal best time of 1:01 in the 100-meter butterfly. Jeff Springer contributed to the GCC 92-80 victory over Mentor with 184.7 points for diving. Nainiger, Jamie Vance, and Bill Johnson each placed in three events, while Jason Sotka and Chris Thomas placed in two, contributing to the 97-65 win over Midpark. The swimmers defeated Mayfield 116-53 by taking first place in nine of eleven events.

The boys finished the season with a 6-6 record overall. A 4-1 record in the GCC netted a second place finish. Coach Dan Maxson commented, "The team really presented 100% total team effort overall." The top scorers of the season were Bill Bell, Mike Mehls, and Jim Bowdouris.

For Fifth Year In A Row, Swimmin' Women Are #1 In GCC

The "Swimmim' Women" started their season with a 53-30 victory over Berea. This win brought their consecutive dual meet victories to ten. The 200-meter medley relay team of Colleen Coyne, Lisa Coyne, Heidi Nielsen, and Sharon Kelly qualified for the Cleveland State Invitational.

In the GCC opener against Mentor, Pam Miller, Deb Vuant, and Lisa Coyne swept the diving events, and Sharon Kelly, Sue Kelly, and Kecia Bell swept the 200-meter individual medley contributing to the 101-71 victory. In the Bedford meet, Pam Miller scored a school and district record 246.6 points for diving. The girls defeated Mayfield 129-43 by taking first place in all eleven events.

The girls concluded the season with an 11-1 record overall, 5-0 in the GCC, and a fifth GCC crown. Coach Dan Maxson stated, "The girls took great pride in displaying teamwork and it paid off." The team, which ranked eighth in Greater Cleveland and 18th in the state, was led by Sharon Kelly, Lisa Coyne, Sue Kelly, and Dawn Turpin. Pam Miller, Heidi Nielsen, and Terri Schmeling were number one in their respective events.

This year was a very busy one for Euclid's Wai Napolo. In addition to the annual spring show, the girls prepared for several synchronized swimming competitions. This year, advisors Mrs. Lomac and Mrs. Turpin received a helping hand from Nancy Stark, an experienced synchronized swimmer. The competitions were learning experiences for all of those who participated.

The theme of Wai Napolo's spring show was the Olympics. Synchronized swimming, having been included as an event in the Summer Olympics, has continued to grow in popularity.

Academics is an inevitable part of any high school student's life, but teachers at Euclid made learning more enjoyable in 1984-1985. Latin II and A.P. Computer classes as well as the traditional courses offered at Euclid gave students valuable experience. The Academic Decathlon proved that students at Euclid were shining scholastically.

-C. Bednarik
The Importance Of Being Earnest

The quality of education and the other programs at EHS was headed by Dr. E. Husarik, his staff and Euclid’s Board of Education. For example, this year they purchased all text books, materials and supplies, hired teachers, and informed the community of the happenings within the school system. They helped insure safety and good health for students, and supervised the curriculum to be taught.

The Board, Dr. Husarik, and his staff worked closely with the EHS principals in order to allow for the best possible education. Mr. Lombardo, the new principal, in association with Mr. McGuinness, ran the school with authority and confidence. As a young administrative staff, Lombardo and McGuinness became very much a part of school activities. They encouraged the rest of their administrative staff (see the smiling faces on the opposite page) to become even more involved with school activities and social events. There was a friendly atmosphere in the school, while the proper discipline was maintained at all times.

The class of ’85 appreciated their dedication and wish them continued success in the future.

P.S. Much thanks to Dr. Husarik for believing in snow days.

We have a good department with many diverse personalities. Each teacher is dedicated to their work. They love mathematics and want their students to learn to enjoy this subject," commented Mr. Clements, the twenty-three year chairman of the math department.

The functions of the department include working and understanding numerical quantities and spatial relationships that have use in science and life in general. The ability to think logically and apply that logic to the solution of problems in very important situations is something the teachers try to develop as well.

An advantage for math teachers and students is that there are always easier teaching methods being found everyday. Math is also a very reliable subject. Two plus two will always be four. The answers do not change.

-K. Taylor
new math course was initiated this year—Mathematics of Modern Living. It was a consumer career course and promoted consumer skills and uses of mathematics in and out of school activities. For example, in home repairs, a person may need to know how high or wide to make a stair. The student in this course was taught to figure out such a problem. The class also centered on such things as filling out a check and paying a bill. Many students benefitted from such a subject.

—B. Terrano
The Social Studies Department is a solid department with well educated teachers; most have their masters’ degrees. Dr. Powaski and Dr. McNeily both have their PHd degrees,” says Department Head, Mr. Frank Hoffert.

The Social Studies Department is designed to educate people to become good citizens who actively participate in the political process. Students are taught to develop their individual potential and become critical thinkers. Dr. Powaski achieves this desire by giving essay tests that ask the student to “assess the validity” of a given statement. Dr. Powaski feels this type of test helps students to understand their studies and not just memorize facts.

As Department Head, Mr. Hoffert is in charge of all aspects of the Social Studies Department. He selects textbooks, forms curriculum, develops the department budget and develops the department’s master schedule.

Mr. Hoffert says that not everyone enjoys going to work—but he does.

“I am very proud of this department; the faculty and the work they do. They are very cooperative and hard working teachers who are definitely interested in their students.”

-B. Terrano
The Social Studies award is given each year to the student who exhibits an interest—not only in history per se, but in activities in school and in the community which involve service to others.

The department is charged with the American Legion test. The American Legion awards those students who score very well on the "Americanism" test. A variety of other scholarships are offered through the Social Studies department as well.
You can really be proud of the foreign language department because all the teachers are certified to teach at least three languages. A very high amount of teaching and academic experience,” says department head Miss Simonich.

Educated people should have a foreign language not only because colleges require it, but for the experience. The world is a community. It is especially important for us to recognize this because our country has so many different cultural backgrounds. The knowledge of a foreign language opens doors and provides a new outlook on the world. It allows not only a way to communicate with a person of another culture but discover a different way of life. A foreign language enables you to find out the differences in cultures but more importantly the similarities.

-B. Terango
Special Education's Special Goals

Being the smallest department at EHS, the Special Education Department did not get much recognition. This department was dedicated to helping students, developmentally or physically handicapped, prepare for employment as well as giving them a sound and well rounded education. One of its goals was to find employment for all of its students by their senior year.

Although this was Mr. York's first year as department chairman at Euclid, he was the chairman for ten years at Shore Junior High School. Although his department was fairly small, Mr. York had the same responsibilities as other chairmen. His job included balancing the department budget, tracing the department's supplies and setting up meetings to keep the department running smoothly.

The Special Education Department consisted of three teachers and fifty-one students. The students were divided into various levels according to their ability. The teachers in the department, unlike most teachers in the school, taught a variety of subjects which varied yearly. Needless to say, the students and teachers built up a close relationship over a four period.

Along with stressed academics and preparation of students for jobs, the teachers in this department encouraged their students to participate in school activities. As Mr. York commented, "We try to get our students involved in school activities as well as preparing them for work. I try to attend as many events as possible in order to encourage them." So, even though it may be a small department, it takes lots of time and patience on the teacher's part to make the department successful."

-V. Schmeling

Special Education
We have an outstanding group of teachers who try as best as they are able to stay current with the rapid changes in science that are occurring daily and who do their best to meet the needs of each of their students," said Mr. Sheldon Freedman, Science Department Chairman, about the other 16 members of the Department.

The Science Department provides the students with an opportunity to develop an appreciation of science. The education students receive from the Science Department can make them aware and prepared for career opportunities in science, engineering, technical work, health-related fields, and other kinds of science-related endeavors.

Even if a majority of the students never go into a science-related field, they will carry with them skills such as data gathering and observation that they learned in their science courses. Science skills are readily used in non-related fields.

Science classes are often times unconventional. Mr. VonBenken's exciting class demonstrations help to spark student interest in chemistry. Students commented on the wide resources of the Science Department, which includes live plants and animals. "There are advantages to taking a science course," Beth Terango joked, "For instance, I really don't like biology that much, I just took it for the gerbils."

-B. Terango

The Jewish War Vets offer a one-hundred dollar scholarship for the best science student. The department chooses this student on the type of class he or she has taken, the grade received in the class, and the A.P. test results.

Congratulations to Mr. Freedman who has celebrated his twentieth anniversary as Department Head this year.

hat we try to do is help all students develop their writing competence to the best of their ability and we try to improvise a literature program to expose students to the best. If you try to teach the best, students won’t be eager to read trash. It also helps students to make better judgments as to what they’d read in later life,” says Mr. Petrovic, second year department head of English.

All of the English teachers have multifaceted jobs. They encourage the students to work hard so they can become as well educated as possible. They feel that it is their responsibility to introduce them to the best that has been written and appreciate the most renowned works. The student is also taught how to think highly of the language.

“We have a dedicated staff which is concerned about the needs of its students,” states Mr. Petrovic.

English Update

The English Department is the largest department in the school. Mr. Robert Petrovic, second year chairman, a former yearbook advisor, had his hand full. He made many changes in the department, and expanded the scope of the English curriculum by allowing a greater variety of books, including modern classics to be studied. The most visible advance that was made in the department is the English showcase, featuring pictures of various English students and their writing. Mr. Petrovic has encouraged writing contests in order to help students discover their full writing potential.

The Industrial Arts Department intended to expose students to some of the technology in industry, which is the newest teaching trend. The department plans to use new computers to further the plan in the upcoming years. The department considered what would most beneficial to the student, whether it was furniture mending or car repair. The department intended to revamp its program to prepare students for the future. They encouraged such things as photography, lithography, and computer aided design.

Mr. Galicki, four year department chairman said, "I think we have some of the finest technicians anywhere. Our people are skilled; there are only two out of nine people without their masters degree and three who have sixty hours beyond their masters in various fields.

The Music Department provided a wide range of musical opportunities and experiences for students interested in furthering their musical education at the high school level. The music opportunities included Marching Band, Concert Band, Symphonic Wind Ensemble, Stage Band, and Orchestra as well as a variety of choirs, including Choral Masters and Varsity Chorale.

Mr. Sydow, thirteen year department head, commented that the staff at Euclid was one of the finest in the area and outstanding in its areas. "They work very hard in order to prepare the students for performances, which is a major function of our music program. In addition to the performing arts, we offer courses in music appreciation and music theory."

The Music Department offered students the opportunities whether they planned to explore their interests in music or were serious students who planned to go into music as a profession.

The library media center provides media services to the whole school. We maintain a collection of books, periodicals, and audiovisual materials and equipment that are a vital part of the school curriculum; we work as a team teachers with classroom teachers in planning lessons. We teach students reference skills which they need for success in high school and in the future," said Mrs. Marsh, eight year head of the library. Both she and Mrs. Lucas have attended school for five years in order to become librarians.

Mrs. Marsh set the library policy and worked very closely with the Euclid Public Library, which has a large role in running the high school library media center.

"We want our students to think of their library media center, not just as a place to spend study hall time, but a range of media services which we provide for students to learn better," commented Mrs. Marsh who was very proud of the library this year.

eed an accountant? Want to learn to type? The business Department at Euclid can provide a wide assortment of courses for marketable skills upon graduation. A wide variety and a large selection leaves a business student many options: everything from Vocational Stenography and Recordkeeping to Business Law and Keyboarding.

In a highly competitive business world, graduating business students feel they are well prepared to face the job market. The Business Department offers many courses that are building blocks to a good job in business. Economics and business functions are taught. Students are also given out of school experiences to acquaint them with the business world. College bound or not, most students could benefit from classes on keyboarding, Consumer Law, and computers. Students at college find the typing and shorthand classes they took in high school to be very beneficial.

Business classes are not always for those who plan to enter the business world; Eric Boettcher commented, "I don't think I'm going into accounting, but taking it has really helped my math. I think it also helps me balance my checkbook."

Mr. Marc Manburg, chairman of the business department for the last five years said, “Because business enterprise is one of the dominant elements of present day American society, education for and about business must be a significant component of the curriculum of this high school. Recognizing this, the business department at Euclid High School has designed a variety of courses and other learning experiences that gives our students the skill, knowledge and attitudes which are the basic elements to successful participation in today’s business world.”

The philosophy of the Physical Education was “to provide an opportunity by means of physical activity for the growth and development of the individual that he/she may function productively, responsibly, and enjoyably in a free society.” Part of Mrs. Carter’s, the department chairman for twenty-one years, and her staff’s responsibilities was to guide students through meaningful physical education activities, which work toward the materializing of the above idea.

Mrs. Carter was responsible for the coordination and implementation of a quality physical education program. She prepared the budget for the department, distributed supplies, and led the department in all its scholastic endeavors.

All staff members were eligible to recommend scholarship recipients to a host of professional organizations which various teachers have joined in pursuit of their individual interests.

The EHS Administration made a notable change in physical education uniforms this year. Spirit teeshirts were an optional replacement for the standard white tops.

Next year, due to the increase of Carnegie Units for graduation, juniors will not be required to take physical education. Despite this turn of events, the department is offering TAC—Touch Athletic Conditioning. This course is guaranteed to build up the participant, and improve his/her mental health and attitude.

-B. Terango
The EHS Visual Art Department intended to "nurture the creative and expressive goals of our students." In order to achieve this idea, the department offered a variety of courses, including a series of art courses I to IV. Vocational Art and Commercial Art courses were geared toward career minded individuals. Phase Art was offered for those students who were interested in art, but did not have time to take a two period course.

The Visual Arts Department has forty-six combined years of teaching experience, but as Miss Arthur commented "probably one-hundred years of art experience."

This year was Mrs. Copp's first year as department chairman. She did an excellent job to better organize the department and make it more effective.

"It is a fine department. Our teachers are very interesting and interested in helping the art students with their special areas of concern," said Mrs. Copp about her department.

Cosmetology students learned many diverse and advanced things concerning their subject. Not only did the student learn to cut and dress hair, but they also learned much about the human body. They studied the bone and muscle structure of the human form, the composition and treatment of skin, application of makeup, the arts of manicure, pedicure and shoulder and face massage. Then of course, to keep up with the times, they were taught to perm hair, shave heads, and spike hair.

Cosmetology is a vocational program taught to juniors and seniors. The students attend school at EHS and at the Euclidian Beauty College owned by Mr. DiPaolo, who also taught the course.

After graduation, most of the cosmetology students went on to professional positions in this area.

The Home Economics Department is comprised of teachers who work well together and with the students of Euclid Senior High. The department curriculum emphasizes the many facets of life including Foods and Nutrition, Clothing and Tailoring, Modern Living and Vocational Child Care.” said Mrs. Jan Carlson second year chairman of the Home Economics department.

The department provided classes to touch on almost every aspect of life. Modern Living is a class which prepared the student for an independent adult life. It covers current problems in personal and family relationships. In Vocational Child Care the student was trained and educated for day care centers. Euclid Senior High is the only high school with two foods classes, Foods I and Foods II. In Foods I, the basics of food preparation were taught; in Foods II, special situations are dealt with, such as pregnancy, heart disease and weight control. Clothing I and II centered on not only the fundamentals of clothing construction, but it included tailoring and wardrobe construction.

The Home Economics is a department with diverse course opportunities such that students can touch all facets of life.

A Race To The Finish

This year, nine Euclid seniors and juniors competed for top honors in the third annual Ohio Academic Decathlon.

The Academic Decathlon was a national event in which students competed in ten areas. The ideas behind the Decathlon was to give students as much recognition as was given to outstanding athletes.

The six team members and three alternates, Beth Terango, Sue Swyt, Cris Wright, Darlene Shei, Jim Korzun, Bill DeMora, Bob Maher, Donna Zigman, and Ed Wilson, were chosen on the basis of a qualifying test. All contestants took tests in the areas of economics, English, and literature, fine arts, mathematics, physical and biological sciences and social science. The Ohio Academic Decathlon was held at Shaker Heights High School on February 23. Twenty-six schools competed for first place. Trophies and medals were awarded, and the first place school won an all expense paid trip to Los Angeles for the national competition.

Sponsor, Miss Simonich, stated, "The Academic Decathlon offers students a chance for individual attention for academic excellence in a team environment. It also motivates them to compete in areas where they are not strong. This kind of competition can change one's life.

Teachers Have Varied Interests

Any of Euclid High School's teachers sponsored clubs and others spent time with various hobbies and interest.

Some clubs were used to assist in sporting events, such as the basketball aides, sponsored by Mr. Daugherty. Other such clubs are the Athletic Department (A.D.) Club, sponsored by Mr. Raicevich, football aides, sponsored by Mr. Rattay, hockey aides sponsored by Mr. Ramlow and the wrestling aides club, sponsored by Mr. King. Other activities involved in sports were cheerleaders, sponsored by Mrs. Wandersleben, the Flag Corps, sponsored by Bonnie Thornton, the Outdoor Club, charged by Mr. Soltesz, the Panther Running Club sponsored by Mr. Halbedel, Wai Napolo moderated by Mrs. Lomac, and the Ski Club charged by Mr. Von Benken, who also enjoys rock climbing, sailing, camping and hiking. He was also co-sponsor of the Euclidian, a duty he shared with Miss Arthur.

Some clubs, such as Eucuyo, sponsored by Mr. Henderson were used to promote arts and literature. Close-Up, which offered a first hand view of national government, was sponsored by Mr. W. Smith. Library Aides and Pages are moderated by Mrs. Lucas. EHS' newspaper, the Survey is charged by Mr. Antonini and Mr. Jablonski, who also enjoys bicycling in any weather. The Drama Club is headed by Miss Carmody and Mrs. McLaughlin, who is an avid rose gardener and enjoys gourmet cooking. Big Show was sponsored by Mr. Sydow and Mr. Godfrey, and the Audio Visual aides, were sponsored by Mr. Black. American Field Service (A.F.S.) sponsored by Mrs. Cowan, and Astronomy, moderated by Mr. Francetic and Dr. Powaski, were also educational programs offered this year.

Teachers have hobbies and extracurricular activities outside of school. Mrs. Carter enjoys reading "everything", including fiction and magazines. Science teacher Mr. Barcza plays racquetball and participates in other sports oriented activities as well. Mr. Weisenberg likes to write. Mrs. Rash enjoys portrait painting, the art teacher, Mrs. Copp keeps a horse in Solon.
The underclassmen at Euclid showed more spirit and pride in their school than ever in 1984-1985. As they move forward to their senior year and graduation, they will continue to contribute to the golden atmosphere at Euclid.

A New Way Of Life

At the end of August, many new faces shyly moved through Euclid's halls. Nervously looking for classes and armed with maps, these students were members of the freshman class. However, this year's freshmen were not shy or nervous for long. Soon they made many new friends and discovered for themselves how great Euclid could be.

Of course, there were some drawbacks to high school life. Getting up earlier, increased workloads, and adjusting to a larger school were some of the problems faced by most freshmen.

The biggest fear among the ninth graders was that they would not find their classes in the five minute passing period. After a few weeks of school, it was quite evident that the class of 1988 had adjusted well into the mainstream of their fellow Panthers. Extra-curricular activities such as sports and clubs helped to break the ice for these newcomers to Euclid. It was very clear that the freshman class was a class with an abundance of vitality, spirit, and pride for their school. The class of 1988 will certainly be one to watch for in the years ahead.

he biggest worry of freshmen as they entered the high school was not only the heavier workload but the possibility of making friends. At Euclid, this year's freshmen found making friends much easier than they thought.

The atmosphere at Euclid provided by pleasant teachers and helpful students was ideal for beginning friendships, and the 1984-1985 freshman class found various ways to make lasting friendships. Clubs, activities, sporting events and dances were just some of the ways the freshman class got acquainted with one another and upperclassmen, as well as their present and possibly future teachers. Most ninth graders felt the classroom atmosphere encouraged others to begin new relationships.

Several students expressed their feelings about Euclid and the ease of making friends, as a result of the spirit and involvement of students at Euclid. Lloyd Wollmershauser commented, “I made friends by joining water polo.” Angie Gamber added, “Many of the people at Euclid were very nice and made a big effort to make all the new freshmen at Euclid very comfortable.”

Regardless of the ways freshmen made friends, the most important thing was to be a friend!

-K. Ugrinic, C. Betts, C. Bednarik, B. Terango
Informing Euclid students was a big job but had to be done. This year, many people were responsible for seeing that students and teachers were up-to-date on school events.

The Panther Press, a combination of many written announcements, was prepared one day in advance for the next school day. After printing, it was distributed to the teachers’ boxes to be made available to students during homeroom the next day. It contained various details about sports, clubs, and activities. Mr. McGuinness not only organized the Press but also found questions from his trivia book to be printed.

Information was also provided verbally by P.A. announcements. A group of individuals selected by audition, the P.A. announcers, included Gabrielle Holland, Klaudia Kerestes, Dean Lett, Beth Terango, Jason Sotka, Donald Wylie, while Mark Sterrick was responsible for working the control board. Mr. Lombardo and Mrs. Fette organized the group and made sure everything had been done to accurately inform all students and teachers. They did a great job and everyone will remember that cheery, “hello, hello!” that made every day memorable.

You Didn’t See That!

My molecule followed me to school!
hat were some of the things that the freshmen were dying to do this year? The ninth grade class, during the 1984-1985 school year, was ready for big changes.

Moving up to be sophomores, juniors, and ultimately seniors seemed to be number one on their list. Many freshmen commented that they would like to meet more people at Euclid, because one year did not seem enough to get to know one another. Also, they did not like being the youngest group at Euclid. They wanted more time to become familiar with all the activities and programs in which they could become involved.

Second on the freshman list was to be old enough to drive. The ninth graders did not enjoy having to be chauffeured by their parents or older kids.

Another thing the anxious students were waiting for was to be permitted to work, more specifically, to make their own money. Money would allow them to lead more independent lives from their parents.

Dating seemed to be next on the freshman “things-dying-to-do” list. Although many freshmen have dated already, it is difficult for most of them because of the driving and money situation. For example, if a ninth grade guy asked a girl out, they might have a difficult time getting transportation, because he can not legally drive until he is 16 years old. Money could also be a problem: a movie for two costs nearly $10. It is difficult to take someone out if you do not have sufficient money and a driver’s license.

Moving up to a higher class, driving, and working were the things that most freshmen were dying to do.

A Six-Day School Week

Making up bright and early Saturday morning to go to school at Euclid was a reality for miscreants and subversives this year. Replacing the often skipped office detention and those “rewarding” out-of-school suspensions was “Saturday School.”

Students who racked up tardies, used profanity or committed other offenses were assigned a six-day week. These students were given a choice of attending school on Saturday from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m. or being suspended from school for five days.

Although some Saturdays drew quite a crowd, this new policy seemed to be an effective deterrent for most students. However, students were not the only ones punished. Miss Bambic had to wake up early and spend her morning with them. Who knows, maybe by next year we will have the opportunity to spend seven days a week in school.

-D. Generate

Miss Sandi Bambic was placed in charge of Saturday School, an alternative to regular suspensions during school time.

Sophomores
Scheduling, for most students, means deciding which classes they will have to take in the coming year. For the sophomores this was not the case; these students were faced with a decision that would determine their futures. The sophomores had to decide between participating in a vocational program and taking college preparatory courses.

This year, Miss Baraniuk and Mr. Czyzcki made an extra effort to inform the students of the courses available to them. During the course of the year, the two counselors visited sophomore English classes to answer the questions students had about careers and colleges. They discussed the courses that were desirable for a student planning to attend college. Mr. Yocum also held an assembly to explain vocational classes to the students.

Many students felt they had been well prepared by the time they began to plan next year's schedule.

The Best Of Both Worlds

Welcome Parents!

Mr. Pawlowski explains the syllabus of Computer Science to some inquisitive parents.

Open house has traditionally been a time when parents visit their child's classes, meet the teachers, and check their child's progress. This year, the administration combined the best of two open house formats.

At the start of the year a traditional open house was held where parents visited their child's classes. On November 8th and 9th, parents held individual conferences with teachers in the cafeteria, gym, and individual classrooms. Because parents were required to pick up report cards at the school, the number of teacher conferences topped 3,500 and both open houses were great successes. By attending open house, parents not only had an opportunity to learn more about their child's progress but were also able to become acquainted with other parents, teachers, and of course the school itself.

Above and Below: Even though E.H.S. students are of different nationalities, they all think that Euclid is #1.

A poll taken in December asked 325 underclassmen about their ethnic backgrounds. The melting pot at Euclid proved its existence. Of the students polled, 19% said their nationality was German, 14% were Italian, and another 14% were Irish. Slovenians composed 11% of the polled underclassmen, while other ethnic backgrounds included Croatian, Polish, Hungarian, English, French, Scottish, and Afro-American.

The Vocational classes at Euclid play a major role in determining some students' careers. Students can choose from many different courses ranging from Automotives to Data Processing or Accounting.

Each Vocational class is a two-year course open only to juniors and seniors and lasting four class periods each day.

Many students at Euclid are becoming involved in the program. The students already involved recommend the courses to underclassmen considering a vocational career.

The Euclidian staff took a poll asking sophomores who they most admired. Leading the list were the people taking the survey themselves! Yes, that's right, 16% of the people polled said they admired themselves. Next, there came a tie; 11% of the sophomores polled said they admired their mother and 11% admired Prince. In third place, with 8% of the votes, was Billy Idol. Lastly, there was the gold medalist Mary Lou Retton with 6% of the votes. Others included John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr., Ronald Reagan, God, and Euclid's own Mr. Lombardo.

Early in the school year, Euclid held a mock debate to involve the students in the 1984 Presidential Election. Mr. Hartmann and Mrs. Bowker organized the debate and students volunteered to play the parts of Reagan, Bush, Mondale, and Ferraro. The "candidates" did research and rehearsed their parts, putting time and effort into the debate to make it a success. Students also played the parts of panelists, secret service, and moderators. The debate was held on Thursday, November 1, 1984, in the auditorium, and was viewed by every social studies class in the school. The debates were well received by the student body and a great success.

On Monday, November 5, 1984, Euclid conducted a mock election that gave the students an opportunity to place their votes for president. The registration turned out well, better than Mr. Hartmann and Mrs. Bowker had anticipated. Of the entire student body, 1200 students registered to vote. Voting took place before and after school and during the three lunch periods. Reagan won the election by a margin of over 250 votes. Both Mr. Hartmann and Mrs. Bowker were pleased with the overall participation and involvement by the students, making the mock election a great success.

Study Session Provided For PSAT

The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test...What could be a better way to spend a Saturday morning? Two glorious hours of determining the meaning of the word "solenoglyph." Of course, the reason why you are soaring through this is that you have already taken the Pre-PSAT.

A test similar to the PSAT was given three days before the actual test so students could become acquainted with the format of this anticipated event. The main thing to remember was not to worry about the results; everyone gets the jitters.

Mr. McGuinness was the host for this most beloved function. After the Pre-PSAT was taken, Mrs. Sanborn reviewed the most common mistakes made on the mathematics section of the test and Mr. Henderson went over the verbal questions. Many students felt that this little "get-together" greatly helped them, not that anyone needed help, of course!

Most of the juniors described their feelings about becoming seniors next year with the words “ready and waiting.” There was no doubt that the Class of ’86 was looking forward to their senior year.

Many juniors can not wait until next year when they will be “at the top” since their class was cheated out of being the “big guys” at their junior highs, as the freshman class was moved to the high school. Junior Sandy Bolivar pointed out that “We’re the first Euclid High freshmen graduating and we’ve been here the longest, four years.”

Most juniors just want to be seniors because it will be their last year of school. Danielle D’Amico commented, “I’m looking forward to being a senior because when we start school next year, there will be only nine months until graduation.”

-J. Mishalek
Sue Reynolds, who has twirled her baton since she was four years old, is a talented Euclid majorette. In addition to twirling with the high school band, she was selected as the World Majorette Festival Queen in a national competition taking place last summer in Tennessee. Sue took first place in three of five events.

Sue's teacher, Audrey Moore, creates most of the routines and sometimes includes moves that Sue considers difficult. Sue practices two to four hours daily and injuries such as chipped teeth and bruises have never discouraged her. Perhaps her good luck charm, a stuffed squirrel, gives her added encouragement!

Sue's goal is to win the 16-18 division of a national competition making her Senior Queen. Sue plans to judge and teach twirling in the future. With the positive attitude she has, she can not miss. "If I don't win," she says, "I just work harder."

Juniors
When Euclid received a new principal, many changes took place. One of these changes was the probability of a redefinition of the school day. Next year’s seniors would have to complete eight full periods each day even if they did not “need” them. Most students opposed this for many reasons.

Seniors, this year and in previous years, were permitted to leave after sixth period if they had taken all of the classes required of them. Mr. Lombardo may feel that, by making the new rule, students will be encouraged to take more classes and expand their education. An anonymous honor student commented, “I think students should be let out early if they have a good reason, such as work. Having a million study halls is a waste of the student’s time.” Most soon-to-be seniors believe that students will take more study halls if forced to stay in school through eighth period.

However, some students felt this was a good idea. One junior said, “Maybe if the students have to stay in school longer, they will be encouraged to take more classes. They might take less classes if they thought they could get out early.”

There were mixed feelings on the redefinition of the school day. Only time will tell the results.

Prince Voted Favorite Artist

early this school year, selected junior classes were polled to determine their media favorites. The results were interesting and predictable.

Favorite movies as a source of entertainment were Footloose, Ghostbusters, Purple Rain, Gremlins, Temple of Doom, The Karate Kid, and The Never Ending Story.

Favorite TV shows include Paper Dolls, Dynasty, Hotel, Cheers, General Hospital, A-Team, St. Elsewhere, and the V.

A majority of the juniors chose WGCL as their favorite radio station. Others were WMMS, WR, WDMT, WMJI, AND WZZP.

Besides Prince as the favorite performer, other popular stars includes Lionel Richie, Cyndi Lauper, and Newey Lewis. Favorite preforming groups includes Van Halen, Bruce Springsteen, The Culture Club, Police and Duran Duran.

—J. Chen

Tracy Duracensky, Dave Myles, and Cindy Hoppert were just three of the many Euclid students who traveled through a snow storm to make it to Richfield Coliseum to see Prince. Prince's "Purple Rain" tour was in Cleveland on December 5th and 6th.

Juniors
Seniors in 1984-1985 are looking at both past events and a new beginning. Amidst college applications, graduation plans, and grades, Seniors enjoyed dances, involvement in activities such as Senior Elf Day and of course, Prom. The senior class has been striving toward that pot of gold at the end of their school careers and will finally reach it on June 4, 1985.

Class of '86, pay attention! Next year's seniors will all have to have their senior pictures taken at the same studio. This studio, probably Raimor or Briganti, has not yet been decided upon. The reason for this change from the past is the difficulty the yearbook staff has had with locating senior pictures. This year, seniors had pictures taken at over eight different places, including their own homes. 62% of the Class of '85 had their pictures taken at Raimor Studio and 24% had pictures taken at Briganti's. Other studios, at which students had pictures taken, were Christopher Norris, Studio II, and Faces.

By requiring seniors to have their pictures taken at the same studio, many mistakes will be avoided and valuable time saved. Although only 35% of the Senior Class purchased the big senior portrait this year, those who purchased the portrait were pleased with the result. One senior commented, "I could see myself really well in this picture, even though the whole senior class was in it."

Santa's Helpers

It’s cute, full of Christmas cheer, and does almost anything its Santa tells it to do? A 1984 Euclid Senior Elf. This year many seniors, girls and guys, sold tickets for $.50 each, giving the purchaser an opportunity to have them as an elf for the day. On December 21, the elves escorted their “Santas” to classes, carried their books, sang Christmas carols, and did just about anything else their Santa wanted them to do.

Scott Lorenzo, who received Amy Ohanessian as his elf for the day, commented, “My elf was pretty lucky to get me for her Santa.” Most Santas thought it was worth the ticket price to get a cute and cuddly elf for an entire day.

Senior Elf Barb Tingley, who received freshman Steve Seymour as her Santa, said, “It was pretty fun being an elf; it was an experience for my freshman.”

A poll taken of the Senior Class showed that approximately 20% of the seniors at Euclid were elves, most of which were girls. Seniors who participated in the event helped to raise money for Senior Prom and had a great time helping with the fund-raiser.

Special Memories

Euclid seniors will graduate in June carrying with them treasured memories of special times spent at Euclid.

Sporting events were a popular response from seniors asked about their memories of high school. No one will forget the glorious victory Euclid's football team had over St. Joe's, and basketball, hockey, swimming, and cross country events were also mentioned. School dances, including Homecoming, Winterfest, after-game dances, and of course, prom, were memorable events to most seniors.

Friends were very important to this year's seniors. Events such as "spirits," Big Show, marching band, and flag corps provided an opportunity for seniors to make lasting friendships. Many seniors also had special memories of their teachers, and a few will also remember Bill DeMora for years to come.

Some students will not take with them such happy memories. A few seniors were sadly remembered "falling up the stairs." Fortunately, bad times were offset by the special events that helped make senior year exciting. As one student commented, "everything was special!"

Senior Showcase

At the main entrance of Euclid, there is a place designed specifically for the seniors, the Senior Showcase. Throughout the year, pictures of seniors were displayed, along with a description of their interests, achievements, and plans for the future, giving each senior the opportunity to shine.

The showcase was also used to display awards or scholarships that seniors had earned. This gave many senior who had accomplished something academically or otherwise the chance to be recognized for their achievement. The showcase was used this year to display the axe won the varsity football team in their victory over St. Joe's.

The showcase used to highlight seniors and their achievements has become a tradition at Euclid that will undoubtedly be carried on for future seniors.

Did you ever wish that you could forget all those embarrassing things that happened to you during the school year? Some seniors decided that they would share their experiences with us.

Santa's helpers, Susan Tucceri, Jennifer Stone, and Launi Leeper visited the elementary schools, dressed as elves, to distribute candy and Christmas cheer to the children. They had planned to change clothes when they returned to school, but their plans were changed when, to their horror, the fire alarm sounded. They were forced to leave the school building and stand in front of the entire student body, still clad in their elf costumes.

Other seniors, who participated in Elf Day, also found it embarrassing when their Santas requested that they skip around the cafeteria singing "Jingle Bells."

Many seniors recall that their most embarrassing moments were those times when they lost their balance. Many had either tripped up or down the stairs and found it to be a humbling experience.

Seniors
Euclid's Social Room

The E-Room was widely known by most of the student body, because most students visited the room each day. The underclassmen spent time in the E-Room during the first 15 minutes of their lunch periods, and upperclassmen often went to the E-Room after eating lunch.

Video games, the jukebox, and pool tables provided entertainment in the E-Room, and often movies were shown during lunch periods. In addition, the E-Room was the place to go to purchase spiritwear and physical education uniforms. Dance tickets for formal and semi-formal dances were also sold in the E-Room.

Formal dances and semi-formal dances, as well as informal dances were held in the E-Room, another reason for the E-Room's popularity. Refreshments, such as pizza, punch, and chips for hungry students who attended dances were found in the E-Room.

The E-Room was also used as a study hall because of its appropriate atmosphere for studying and working on homework.

The E-Room was of great value to Euclid students and most of the students associated it with fun!

Dancin' In The New Year

For the first time, Euclid provided its students with something to do on New Year's Eve. Almost 200 students attended the New Year's Eve party, with the majority being underclassmen. Tickets were $5, and the party was held from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Gary Pearl provided the music in the E-room for dancing. In the ballroom, the movies, "Footloose," "Sixteen Candles," and "Airplane" were shown several times throughout the evening. The pool tables and video games were also available to the partiers. Everything from pizza and pop to doughnuts was served in the ballroom as refreshments. At 11:45, everyone received a hat and noisemaker and reported to the ballroom for the final countdown. Euclid students welcomed in 1985 with balloons, noise, and plenty of confetti.

According to Senior Beth Terango, "The whole evening was a great idea. I enjoyed spending New Year's Eve with my friends." Sue Tucceri, also a senior thought, "It was a good idea, more fun than babysitting." Junior Mary Segulin felt, "Spending New Year's Even with my friends was super, and I would definitely attend next year." Everyone that attended had a great time and supported repeating the activity next year.

Future Plans

When questioned about their post-graduation plans, many seniors had definite paths paved out for the future. It was not surprising that a great majority of the senior class planned to attend college. Many seniors planned to attend state schools such as Kent State, Cleveland State, and Ohio State. However, several out-of-state schools were mentioned by seniors as possible college choices. Among these were the University of Southern Colorado and San Diego State. A few students also had decided upon their field of study. Most seniors wanted to attend a four-year college, but some ambitious seniors hoped to continue their education with medical or law school.

It was not a coincidence that most of the seniors who listed specific colleges or field had visited the Career Office many times. The students visited the Career Office once or twice each week to sign out booklets describing college options or to discuss questions they had pertaining to college or the "world of work." However, there were also many students who said that they rarely visited the Career Office. Many of these students had already decided on a trade or technical school. Jobs at the Euclidian Beauty School and employment as a cabinet maker were also mentioned in the poll.

From the poll taken, it was seen that the majority of the Class of '85 that was still undecided about employment or college after high school did not frequent the Career Office. Students were encouraged to visit the Career Office and make use of the vast supply of readily available materials.

Each year the senior class at Euclid is unique; the Class of '85 had many unique characteristics ranging from the new administration to its prom. According to Mrs. Fette, "Every senior class is unique and special because the kids are unique."

The Class of '85 "broke out by breaking in a new administration," according to Mr. Reno. In addition to a new administration, this year's seniors were the first required to have 19 credits in order to graduate. Mr. Bender added that "this is the first class to survive George Orwell."

For the first time, the Senior Class Cabinet was elected in May of their junior year. Mrs. Davis said, "The fact that the cabinet had the summer to prepare greatly added to the organization of class activities." The Class Cabinet was the first to do community service, with the community Halloween party and the "elves" distributing candy at the elementary schools at Christmas.

Prom 1985 was also unique. Mr. McGuinness said, "Prom was expanded considerably." It was the first Prom not to be held at the school. Also, after-prom was included in the prom bids for the first time.

Mr. Freedman summed up this year's seniors, "Teaching the 1985 seniors was an experience because they had an intensity for enjoying life, an intensity to others, and a desire to improve themselves." Please remember, we weren't crazy, we were seniors!

In Ten Years From Now...

As seniors at Euclid approached graduation, their hopes and dreams became more realistic. Decisions concerning colleges and occupations grew more important to many students.

Career Night provided many Euclid students and their parents with an opportunity to ask professionals about their jobs and the courses necessary to be admitted into schools specializing in a particular field. In addition, there were demonstrations on the use of the COIN computer. Located in the Career Office, it provided Euclid students with a wealth of information on a variety of jobs and colleges. There were also lectures held to inform parents of the financial aid and scholarships available to their children.

Although only 35% of the seniors polled attended Career Night, 25% of them had absolutely no idea what they would be doing ten years from now. Many seniors decided that in ten years they would be millionaires. Other seniors planned to be happily married with at least one child.

The most popular occupations among the seniors were those in the medical field. Engineering and law took a close second, and other popular jobs included reporting and teaching.

Just what does a senior do on a Friday or Saturday night in Euclid? Of course, everyone enjoys being with their friends, and getting together to have a great time was a sure cure for weekend boredom. This year at Euclid, seniors were asked where they go with friends during their weekends to have a good time.

The most popular place to go was to a movie. Not surprisingly, parties were the second choice for favorite weekend activities. Seniors also enjoyed getting together to “pig out” after a night of fun. Favorite places to eat included fast food chains such as Master Pizza.

Dances were the next choice and not only school dances but also popular dance spots like the Cosmopolitan and Utopia.

In addition to attending sporting events and making trips to the mall, many seniors had very diversified interests. Watching television, playing pool or basketball, and “cruising” with friends were a few of the many different past times seniors at Euclid had during their time off from school.

Although most seniors had increased workloads during their last year of high school, it was evident that the Class of ’85 liked to break away from the books once in awhile and have fun!

ne of the highlights of each college-bound senior’s year was either the Scholastic Aptitude Test or the American College Test, each approximately three hours long and enough to give a person a tension headache. Surprisingly, 48% of the students who took the SAT were satisfied with their scores. Each multiple choice test covered fundamental skills in English and mathematics. In addition, the ACT tested knowledge in social studies and science. This year, the College Board recognized four Euclid seniors for having outstanding scores on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test. Jim Korzun and Ed Wilson were named National Merit Finalists. Each had PSAT scores in the 99th percentile based on the scores of their peers and submitted an essay, grade transcript, and teacher recommendation to the College Board for scholarships. Ed Wilson commented, “It (his accomplishment) reflects the superior education I have received from the Euclid School System, and I am proud to have used my education to the best of my ability.”

Also recognized by the College Board were Bill DeMora and Chris Betts as National Merit Commended Students. Each ranked in at least the 95th percentile on the PSAT.

This year's Prom will be one of the best ever. There were some changes being made that promise to make the Prom of the Class of '85 one to remember.

For the first time, seniors going to Prom will not, at any time, be at the high school. Instead, the first half of the night will be spent in both the Casa de Boralli and Villa de Boralli. Couples will have pictures taken, and dinner will be served in one of the two Borallis. Afterwards, couples will move next door for music and dancing.

The party will proceed to the Eastgate Coliseum, where video games, bowling, and swimming will be offered, free of charge. Of course, one must not forget the following day's trip to Cedar Point. Once everyone has had a few hours of sleep, there is a day and night of amusement park fun.

Tickets for Prom are estimated at $52, and Prom will be held June 4.

Several seniors offered to share their plans for Prom: Jennifer Stone- "After I find a date, I'm going to have a great time." Sue Larkins- "I'm going to go totally wild and have a super time." Ed Wilson- "I'll have a limo, designer tux, and go to Cedar Point." Bill DeMora- "I'm having a limo, an awesome time, spending a lot of money, and making an appearance at Eastgate." Brent Evans- "Go WILD!!- go nuts!-Hot in the City All Night-Alright!!"

Academic Or Vocational?

Education is one of the most important parts of a person's life. The education students receive at Euclid will help to prepare them for college and employment after graduation. Most students found their education more than adequate at Euclid and appreciated the vast variety of courses offered.

The vocational programs included courses for students interested in stenography, art, automobiles, cosmetology and childcare, as well as several others.

In addition, the Advanced Placement and Honor's Programs at Euclid provide students with a more challenging education and an opportunity to gain college credit. Senior Derrick Stewart added, "Euclid is an excellent school to prepare yourself for college." Many students viewed the time they spent at Euclid as more than educational. They enjoyed participating in the extracurricular activities offered and found their time spent at Euclid both valuable and enjoyable. As Michelle Micale commented, "Education provided the motivation for getting out of bed at 6:00 each morning!" Really, it wasn't all that bad.

After graduation, one of the hardest things to do is to say goodbye to friends. As everyone leaves school to go to college or work, it is inevitable that they will make new friendships. Yet old friendships will not be forgotten and will last as long as the memories made with those who shared special times at Euclid.

Most students asked about leaving friends after graduation believe that they will stay in touch with at least two or three of their closest friends. Other classmates will probably only be seen at high school reunions. One junior commented, "I'm looking forward to my class reunion because I'm curious about what the rest of my class will be doing, as well as the fact that I'll miss them."

Most students can't wait to see who is married, who became a lawyer or doctor, and who has kids. Between graduation and that first reunion, who knows what could happen!

What do the words “academic” and “vocational” mean to you? Are academic courses more important, and vocational classes worth nothing more than a shilling’s worth of preposterous pea pods? Or, do vocational classes DO more? The Euclidian took a poll of the seniors’ views, and the results were surprising.

When asked, “Are vocational or academic classes more important?” 70% of the seniors were... UNDECIDED! Amazingly, some said “a good mixture of both is best” and “both are good courses.” 15% of the seniors replied that academic classes were more important, particularly because they prepare you for college. Subjects such as American Government, College Composition, American Literature, British Literature, Pre-Calculus, and Calculus provided students with the background they needed to get accepted to a college.

13% of the seniors felt that vocational classes were more important “because they can train you for a particular field.” Others felt it “was a good time to catch up on sleep.”

Another familiar question was, “What was the hardest course you ever took?” As far as academic classes were concerned, Calculus was voted the most difficult. In vocational classes, Auto-motives won the vote.

Students had no trouble replying to the question, “Who was your hardest teacher?” The vote was tied! Miss Uhry and Mr. Mularo. Mr. Serra and Mr. McNeilly won the vote for easiest teacher.

The seniors advised underclassmen to take a mixture of both academic and vocational courses to prepare them for college and the “world of work.”

As to the last 2% of the people polled, a few people left the line blank. You can decide for yourself.

Remember . . .

- Euclid's varsity football team beat St. Joe's?
- The power went out in the middle of the school day?
- The cafeteria smelled like an outhouse because the sewers in the cafeteria were blocked up?
- The lights went out at Big Show '83?
- The National Anthem tape broke and Bill DeMora sang it for a basketball game?
- The junior food fight?
- The Euclid Panther mascot broke her foot?
- Chris Cahoon hitting her head on the diving board?
- The girl's swim team giving Euclid it's fifth GCC title in a row?
- The wonderful temperature control in many third floor rooms?
- The rare absences due to weather?
- Getting your driver's license?
- Clapping to Dr. Bergem's beat?
- Passing out after giving blood?
- The 'fun' of taking all those standardized tests?
- Dressing up for Halloween?
- Turning eighteen and be able to vote?
- Commencement on a Saturday?
- Not having Prom in the E-Room?
- Painting signs for Spirits?
- An all-senior Winterfest Court?
- Student Appreciation Day?
- Teacher Appreciation Day?
- Being an Elf?
- Battle of the Classes?
- Yearbook under new advisers?
- "Go to the E-Room"?
- "Show your I.D."
- Paraprofessionals and hall passes?

"All Was In Chaos Until Euclid Arose And Made Order"

-from the film "Why Man Creates."
Probably the most enjoyable time of the year is summer, the months students spend hours praying for during cold winter days. What will most of Euclid’s students do when summer arrives? Have Euclid students already made plans? According to a senior poll, approximately 70% of all seniors will be working! Most students will work to earn money for college, cars, or to enable them to move out of their parent’s homes after graduation. Some want to work just to pass the time and earn extra spending money.

20% of the seniors will be going on vacation. The most fashionable vacation spot seems to be Florida, particularly Daytona Beach. They hope to relax on sandy beaches, while some of their classmates are going abroad, by water or air.

Another 8% of the seniors want nothing more than “fun, fun, fun!” during their vacations. Parties or just relaxation were high on the list of favorite activities for the summer months. Finally, 2% of the seniors will be participating in sport events, such as baseball, weight lifting and swimming.

Everyone had plans for summer and seniors are reminded to make the best of their time because it is their last summer of being a “kid.”

Activities

NICK ZINGALE: Varsity Chorale 11, 12; Big Show 10, 11, 12; Choral Masters 10, 11, 12; Plays 10, 11. MARGARET A. ZOLLARS: Orchestra 10; Big Show 11; Choral Masters 10, 11, 12. MARILYN A. ZUPAN: Sophomore Class Cabinet 10; Fall Play 10; Big Show 10; Ski Club 10, 11; AD Club 10, 11; Student Council treasurer 12. JEFF ZURILLA: Basketball 10; Baseball 10, 11, 12. DAVID ZUSMAN: NOT PICTURED Football 10, 11, 12.

Producing a yearbook is an expensive process, especially if you are going for the gold! Advertisements helped to pay for the 1984-1985 yearbook. Staff members managed to sell $5350 in ads, including faculty and parent patrons, helping to prevent an increase in the price of the yearbook. Although there was no change in cost to students ordering their yearbook in the fall, an additional cost was added to the price of books purchased in spring to prevent students from buying yearbooks at the last minute.

-C. Redmarik

Top: The New Years Eve Party held in Mr. McGuinness' living room will always be remembered by those who attended and Mrs. McGuinness who will be finished cleaning up sometime in 1987. Bottom: Steve Cooney and Chuck Brandich finished their daily tap dancing routine with a smash!
Top Left: Instead of a detention for tardiness, a pint of blood is drawn as punishment. Top Right: This student's new technique of polishing the floor will revolutionize the cleaning industry. Bottom Left: Euclid students appear not to have a care in the world. Bottom Right: Dave Myles continues to make profits from the sale of exit passes.

J. Paskert gets into the spirit of the day. English teachers J. Strobinski, J. McLaughlin, G. Henderson, B. Spiga and J. Lellis work in the computer lab.
Hail to thee, O Euclid High School,
To thy name all praise we sing
Happy days of youthful pleasure,
Learning, living, life so dear.
Our hearts fill with gratitude
For all that is to be;
Alma Mater Euclid High School,
All our praise we sing to thee.

Where the blue of Erie's waters
Casts the sun's bright golden rays,
There all Euclid's sons and daughters
Sing the joys of student days.
If after days be dark and drear,
And storms of life draw nigh,
The memories of our friendships here
Will lift our hearts to Euclid High.

Advertising Index  289
As the 1984-1985 school year comes to a close, the students of Euclid, especially the Class of '85, reflect on the special times they have shared together and the memories that will follow them after graduation. Euclid High School seniors are faced with careers and further education, and will carry with them the experience of attending Euclid. As the run begins to set and the pages close, the students will leave knowing that Euclid glittered in 1984-1985.

COLOPHON

950 copies of the 1985 Euclidian were printed by the Josten’s American Yearbook Company at State College, Pennsylvania. The book is printed on Gloss 191 paper stock and includes eight pages of natural color and eight pages of spot color. Times Roman Bold type is used throughout the book, with body copy set in ten point size, caption copy set in eight point, and index copy set in six point. A classic style dropped initial is used in all body copy. The cover is a full color layout designed by Miss Cheryl Arthur with dominant picture submitted by junior Tracy Duradensky. The book has gold endsheets. The final deadline to insure on-time delivery of the book was February 25, 1985.

THANK YOU

There is an endless list of thank yous to those who made the 1985 Euclidian possible. Thank you to first-year advisers Miss Cheryl Arthur and Mr. Bill VonBenken for their constant help, support, and understanding; the Vocational Art students for the logos appearing on the divider and sports pages; Sam Carlo for supplying the sports team pictures; Raimor’s Studio for the processing and printing of pictures; the advertisers who helped defer the cost of the book; Mr. Lombardo and the staff for all their tolerance and help; and the responsible members of the Euclidian staff who completed their assignments on time. A special thanks goes to those who realized and appreciated how much work putting a yearbook together was. Most of all, thank you to the members of the student body who did not mind having their pictures taken, for without them, there would be no Euclidian.

GOOD LUCK!!!

The staff has recorded the 1984-1985 school year in Volume 36 of the Euclidian. We have tried our best to identify all the names, faces, and events of the school year, and if we are in error, we offer our apologies. The contents of this book are an interpretation of how students, in general, “went for the gold”, but to each person, how he strove to achieve his personal best has a special meaning. As this school year ends, we hope you will carry this memory book out into the world with as much pride as we will, striving for the best in the future yet always remembering and treasuring the past.
